Five Die In Flames At Cincinnati Home

INCENDIARISM THEORY GIVEN BY FIRE CHIEF

Seven Inmates of Catholic Institution Injured, Two Seriously.

HOSPITAL NEARBY

Five Firemen and Police Also Hurt, Fire Worst in Last 30 Years.

(By Associated Press)

CINCINNATI — Five persons died, at least seven were injured and between 25 and 30 others rescued today amid flames that destroyed the Holy Family home on grounds of old St Francis hospital, in the west end

Fire Chief Barney J. Houston advanced a theory of incendiaryism in describing the blaze as the worst of its kind here in more than 30 years.

Houston tentatively estimated loss at $50,000.

The dead, all of whom were inmate-employs, were.

Mary Rose Watkins, 42, Mary Theders, of Cincinnati, Minnie Brandhoff, 57, of Hamilton; Regina Niekemp, 45, and Rosaline Burns, 41.

Miss Brandhoff was a sister of George Brandhoff, chairman of the Butler county board of elections and had been an inmate of the home for more than two years

Theresa Bukart, 78, formerly of Cleveland and Jennie Kensler, widow, of nearby Dayton, Ky., were the most seriously injured, both suffering burns. Five firemen and policemen were hurt to lesser degree.

The blaze started in the basement of the rambling three story and attic brick building, and was detected about 1 a. m.

Nineteen fire companies responded to the alarm.

Nearby, in the main hospital building were 245 aged and helpless patients including, members of the Sisterhood said, 150 hopeless incurables

Many occupants of the building were led to safety down fire escapes. Others were rescued by volunteers and firemen through windows.

Those fatally burned were found huddled in corners. One victim, Mary Theders, was found in the linen closet which she apparently entered in the belief she had reached an outside door.

"One went back to get her

Report Willkie's Name to Go Before Dems' Convention

CHICAGO —(INS)— Interest in a reported "plot" to place the name of Wendell L. Willkie, Republican presidential nominee, in nomination at next week's Democratic national convention was heightened today with announcement Guy Warren, wealthy Corpus Christi, Texas, oil operator, is scheduled to arrive in Chicago.

Before leaving Texas, Warren said he would establish Chicago headquarters for "nominate Willkie Democrats," and declared:

"A member of the Garner-pledged Texas delegation will nominate Willkie at the Democratic convention. If this seems fantastic, it must be recalled that the first miracle happened at Philadelphia when the Republicans nominated Willkie."

Petain Assumes Dictator's Powers

Takes Reins of France Under Shadow of Swastika.

A NAPOLEON AT 84

Signs Death Warrant of Defeated Third Republic.

(By Associated Press)

VICHY—Under the shadow of the Swastika, aged Marshal Henri Philippe Petain took into his hands today the reins of an authoritarian France.

Publication in the official journal of a "constitutional act" over his own signature gave the 84-year-old "hero of Verdun" combined powers of president and premier and marked the death of the defeated third French republic.

President Albert Lebrun was a "forgotten man."

(The German wireless reported from Vichy that Lebrun had placed his resignation in Petain's hands.

(Petain, it said quoting a French communique, told the president he "intended to combine henceforth the chairmanship of the council of ministers (cabinet) with the office of the head of the French state in order to assume personal responsibiltey for the management of public affairs. . . ."

(LeBrun, it added "with unselfishness for which the country will be grateful, submitted his resignation.")

Today Petain theoretically held more power than any Frenchman since Napoleon III, but his right to govern as he pleases—at least until a new national assembly is formed—actually is limited by France's position as a conquered nation.

Another "constitutional act" he signed gives him legislative power "during this period of serious international tension and internal crises."

The remnants of the old parliament will remain through this transition period, but may not meet except at Petain's summons.

The old senate and chamber of deputies legislated themselves out of existence Tuesday and Wednesday by granting him full power to set up a new constitution which then will be submitted to a referendum.

Presumably all Frenchmen even in German occupied areas will be asked to vote under the plan, but that apparently depended on Germany's decision.

Although more than half of France is occupied by troops of conquering Germany, Petain showed his intention to extend at least his civil power over that region by his desire to move the capital from this famed health resort to Versaillies.

BOMB THREAT

New York State Police Guard Capitol at Albany.

ALBANY, N. Y.—(INS)—A heavy cordon of state troopers and local police today guarded the New York state capitol building, a massive $25,000,000 structure, following a receipt of a bombing threat.

G-men and Albany detectives were attempting to trace the sender of a postcard threatening to bomb the capitol today. All persons were barred from the building unless they could identify themselves and furnish a sufficient reason for desiring to enter. The heavy wooden doors of the capitol building were closed last night for the first time since the World war.

Petain and Triumvirate Rule Over France

A triumvirate under the figure-head leadership of aged Marshal Henri Petain now rules the totalitarian French state. The triumvirate is composed of General Weygand, former Premier and former Foreign Minister Pierre Laval and former Labor Minister Adrien Marquet. With only four dissenting votes out of more than 600 the French chamber of deputies and senate voted to establish the new state, bringing to an end the third republic.

Gen. Marshall Urges National Guard Training Mobilization

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—General George C. Marshall said today he favored mobilizing the national guard "immediately" for training.

The army chief of staff made the statement to the senate military committee before which he endorsed, subject to some "minor" amendments, the Burke-Wadsworth bill for compulsory training on a selective basis of all male citizens 21 to 45.

In this connection he said he believed that at the start of any training program the national guard, with its 230,000 men available on first mobilization, should be called up first.

Asked subsequently whether he desired to "mobilize the national guard immediately," he replied affirmatively.

Assurances that officers and men of the national guard were "ready and willing" to respond to a summons to active service were received, meanwhile by the war department in a letter to Secretary Stimson from Brig. Gen. Walter A. DeLamater, president of the national guard association, and Brig. Gen. Charles H. Grahl, president of the adjutants general association.

The army chief of staff testified that the Burke-Wadsworth bill would be in general accord with war department views.

"Some such measure is immediately necessary," General Marshall testified. He said that it would take too long under the present system of voluntary enlistment to bring the regular army and national guard to the strength for which congress already has provided funds.

"In time of peace there is a very definite limit on how far you

Shelby Nurseryman and Son Injured as Train Hits Truck

Gilbert Scott, 36, Shelby nurseryman and trucker, was in a critical condition in Shelby Memorial hospital today after his truck was demolished by a fast Pennsylvania passenger train last night at the Hinesville crossing about three miles west of Shelby.

Scott received a skull fracture, a fractured vertebra, and cuts and bruises on his body. He was in a semi-conscious condition today and could not tell how the accident occurred

Scott's 13-year-old son, Joseph, who was riding with him, escaped with a sprained ankle and minor bruises although he was thrown from the truck cab by the impact. The truck was loaded with crushed stone.

The front of the locomotive was disabled in the crash and an auxiliary freight locomotive was called to take the train, the Detroit Express, into Toledo, causing a long delay.

Already nearly 15 minutes late in leaving Mansfield, the train was believed to have been traveling at high speed to make up the time. The train left Mansfield shortly before 5 p. m., and the accident occurred a few minutes later.

The boy told authorities that his father's vision was hindered by rain and he failed to see the train in time to avoid the crash. He said the truck was being driven in low gear across the tracks A part of the truck body was carried a half mile down the tracks on the locomotive

Scott, who operates a fleet of trucks, was en route home from Galion where he had attended a sale.

HULL APPEARS NEW DEALERS' NO. 2 CHOICE

Cut and Dried Democratic Convention Indicated By Advance Dope.

THIRD TERM CERTAIN

Delegates Reconciled to Letting F. D. R. Pick His Running Mate.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON—(INS)—President Roosevelt announced flatly today he would not attend the Chicago Democratic convention. Beyond that his silence on the third term issue remained unbroken following his regular Friday press conference.

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
(INS Staff Correspondent)

CHICAGO — It's going to be a cut and dried "New Deal" convention—ticket, platform and all—according to advance indications in Chicago today.

Delegates coming in for next week's Democratic convention are booming nobody seriously to oppose President Roosevelt for re-nomination, and seem to be reconciled to taking their cue from Washington on the vice presidential nomination as well.

New Dealers from Washington are talking up a "Roosevelt and Hull" ticket. The inside dope is that Mr. Roosevelt wants Secretary of State Cordell Hull as the No. 2 man on the ticket, notwithstanding Hull's professed disinclination to be the vice presidential nominee.

Now that the New Dealers are converging on Chicago, some of the "play" is being taken away from Democratic National Chairman James A. Farley. Up to now, pre-convention activities have centered on Farley who has been doing his best to make this an "interesting show" in spite of the outward apathy. Incoming delegates have no fight in them, and seem to be all set to play their role in a "ratifying" convention.

Into this picture have come such ardent New Dealers as Secretary of Commerce Harry L. Hopkins, Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes and Senator Robert F. Wagner of New York. It is said that Hopkins and Ickes will be "the president's eyes" at the convention — that, in fact,

ACT TO EXPAND DEFENSE PLAN

County, City School Officials Talk Over New Vocational Training Classes.

In a move to provide vocational training for more young men under the national defense program, the state department of education today had called on Richland county rural high schools to make their facilities available for summer classes if they are needed.

County school officials went to Columbus yesterday to confer with E. N. Dietrich, state education director, on the proposal for expanding the program.

Boyd Robinson, Richland county superintendent, said the Madison township, Bellville, and Plymouth high schools are the only ones offering industrial arts, so they would be the three most likely to be used for training young men.

Classes were started Monday at Mansfield Senior high school where Supt. W. L. Miller said 217 young men are receiving training in machine shop, welding, electrical and automotive mechanics, and pattern making on an 18-hours-a-day schedule.

Only schools with adequate vocational and machine shop equipment are being used for the government's training courses.

In the delegation which went to Columbus yesterday from Mansfield and the county were Supt. Miller of Mansfield schools, Supt. Robinson of the county schools, Supt. W. B Edgerly of Bellville schools, Supt. E. L. Bailey of Plymouth schools, and Supt. Willard S. Weekley of the Butler schools.

King George VI Escapes Raids On South Coast

England Claims Eight German Planes Brought Down In Flames; Berlin Cheers Over Sinking of Five More Enemy Ships.

(By Associated Press)

Swift-rising British Spitfires slashed back at German bombers over the island kingdom today, shooting down eight of the raiders in flames, after King George VI narrowly escaped a heavy Nazi attack.

In a Scottish town, one bomb killed 10 persons "as far as known." Many others were wounded. The German invader was shot down and its crew perished as the bullet-sieved plane crashed and burst afire.

The German high command, in a communique telling of heavy new damage inflicted on British airports, harbors and armament plants, asserted that 4,329,213 tons of "enemy merchant shipping or shipping usable by the enemy" have been sunk since the war began.

Nazi fighting and Stuka dive-bombing planes sank five ships totalling 30,000 tons in the English channel yesterday, the high command said.

Bomb fires were started at Portsmouth and Burton-on-Trent, it added, and port facilities at Plymouth and Lowestoft were hit by aerial explosives.

King George escaped possible harm from German raiders by a matter of minutes, it was disclosed.

The sovereign, who saw action in the World war naval battle of Jutland, was reported visiting his troops "somewhere in southern England" at the time of the German bomb assault.

Prime Minister Winston Churchill's government, faced with Nazi threats of a U-boat "starvation blockade" of the British Isles, tightened control to bolster the home front and considered imposing a "scientific diet" on the island kingdom's densely-packed millions to save on food supplies.

One plan called for taking over fields which farmers were failing to make yield the last possible ounce of foodstuffs.

While Hitler's quickening campaign of air raids and underseas attacks plagued the British at home, the Italian high command reported Fascist air successes in a new attack on the British Mediterranean fleet.

Italian planes again located and bombed the British naval squadron which engaged in the Ionian sea battle earlier this week, the high command said, setting an aircraft carrier aflame and seriously damaging two destroyers

The Italian communique, injecting a dash of drama into the usually prosaic official accounts, said that the battle raged for several hours, near Malta, and that "our squadrons descended through mist and violent anti-aircraft fire" to within a few hundred yards of the British surface ships.

"The aircraft carrier, struck by a heavy-caliber bomb, stopped suddenly with flames on board visible from above. Several ships speeded to its aid."

This Italian account brought a quick retort from official British quarters in London, which declared:

"Wild claims made in the Italian communique today regarding attacks on the British fleet in the eastern Mediterranean are untrue."

They added that Italian bombers attacked eight times but the only damage was that "one of our fighters became unserviceable after landing."

Sparks from the European conflagration spread a widening series of fires in the ancient land of Africa, with British and Italian "flying columns" of mechanized troops raiding each others outposts in the heat-baked desert regions of

PREPARED: Russia Musters Powers Against Nazi Threat

EDITOR'S NOTE—Here is the first of two uncensored dispatches dealing with events in the Soviet Union.

By PETER C. RHODES
(UP Staff Correspondent)

TOKYO—Soviet Russia is on the move.

She is mustering every ounce of her vast resources from Siberia to the Baltic to bring her military power to maximum strength in the next few months.

She is moving on all fronts to strengthen her strategic position against the day when Germany may look to the east. That day, many observers in Russia believe, will come when and if Great Britain is knocked out of the war.

Russia is not convinced that Germany and Italy will quickly defeat Britain. But she is taking no chances and hopes to strengthen herself sufficiently so that whatever happens, wherever the war may spread, she will be strong enough to stand aloof.

Never have the Russians been more tight-lipped, never has the Russian censorship and the restriction on movements of foreigners been more stringent.

The observations in this uncensored dispatch are based on talks with diplomats. Russian of-

SUNK: Germans Boost Total Of British Shipping Losses

BERLIN—The German high command reported today that 4,329,213 tons of "enemy merchant shipping space or shipping space useable by the enemy" have been sunk by German naval and air action since the start of the war.

"To this figure of ships sunk must be added over 300 ships damaged primarily by the air force which in part were hit so severly that they are unusable at present or because of necessary repairs will be unusable for months," said the daily communique.

The total given by the high command amounts to more than half the total tonnage lost by Great Britain in the entire World war—7,830,765 tons.

The daily communique, giving new point to Germany's declaration of a "starvation blockade" of the British Isles, divided the sunken shipping space as of July 8 as follows

By torpedo hits and mines 1,920,139 tons

By surface craft and naval means, 1,362,161 tons.

By the air force, 1,046,313 tons.

Renewed assaults on airports, harbors and war industries in southern and central England and the sinking of four merchant ships and a tanker in the English channel were marked up to the credit of German fighting planes and dive bombers.

Nine other merchant ships were reported "severely damaged."

Benton Holds Red Birds to Three Hits as Mansfield Wins

Plays Here Today

Club Registers 11-2 Victory; Performs Before 'Shelby' Night Gathering.

By CHARLES MARTIN

STATIONED above the .500 percent mark in the Ohio State league standings again today, the Mansfield Braves prepare to entertain the Fostoria Red Birds before a "Shelby" night gathering at the Fairground at 8:30 p. m.

Tonight's contest will be preceded by a baseball tussle between the Shelby and Ashland teams at 7 p. m. The first tilt will last seven innings.

With Rex Benton, righthander hailing from Ashland, limiting the Red Birds to three hits the Braves chalked up a one-sided 11 to 2 victory at Fostoria last night.

Paced by Harry Seigbert, who pounded out four hits in five times at the plate—including a home run in the fourth—the Braves jumped into the lead in the second inning and that advantage was never threatened as Benton didn't allow the last-place club to score until the ninth.

* * *

The victory was heartening to Manager Dewey Stover. It showed that several of the mainstays of the club have broken loose from batting slumps. Seigbert has not been doing any sensational work at the plate and the youthful first baseman drove in three runs.

Seigbert

After tallying a marker in the second, Mansfield scored twice in the third, added six runs in the fourth and climaxed the scoring with a pair of markers in the eighth.

Benton, in registering his first win since joining the Brave ranks a couple of weeks ago, had an easy time of it. Not once until the ninth did Fostoria threaten seriously.

The Braves also enjoyed a field day on the base paths with Howard Beals, Stover and Herb Woodten stealing four bases—the latter getting two of them.

Walt Missler collected three hits, while Stover and Woodten added two apiece to the 13-hit attack. Manager Bobby Jones led the Fostoria attack with a triple.

Mansfield's win enabled it to gain a half-game on Findlay, but left it 11½ games behind Lima, which walloped Tiffin, 19 to 8, at Lima last night. The Findlay-Fremont game was rained out. Incidentally, Fremont took over fourth place from Tiffin today.

The Braves play on the road Saturday and Sunday and return to the Fair park to tangle with Fremont Monday night.

* * *

When the Braves meet Tiffin at the Fairground Wednesday, it will be before an "American Legion" night crowd and Ralph Hughes, general chairman of the affair, plans a big program for the fans. The Legion Drum Corps will stage a parade and the American Legion Junior baseball team, managed by Dewey Durant, will meet the Shelby Juniors in a tilt at 7 p. m.

MID-ATLANTIC LEAGUE

New York Halts St. Louis, 8 to 6; Rolfe Paces Yankees to 6 to 4 Win Over Browns.

By BILL WHITE, Associated Press Sports Writer.

IF YOU'RE looking for contrasts, how about the gloom along the Gowanus in Brooklyn and the frivolity along Fountain Square in Cincinnati?

Today the Rhineland burghers are making overtures toward the ticket windows marked "advance sale—world series" out in Ohio, while the mourners march on Flatbush avenue, for the handwriting on the wall looks suspiciously like the Reds are in a fair way to repeat their 1939 pennant drive.

Not that last night's 6-5 victory over the Dodgers automatically gives them the championship—but it shows once again that the Reds always seem to be ready when the chips are down.

Brooklyn, fired up by a double loss to the Bees before the all-star holiday and determined to get back on top and stay there, shot the works in an attempt to win—but the mastery of Bucky Walters was not to be denied.

That put the Reds out front by a game and a half and made the third place Giants, who beat St. Louis 8-6 in an 11-inning struggle, just that much closer to the Dodgers. The "Jints" won on two hits, a walk and two errors by "Cousin" Joe Orengo, good for two runs.

In the other National league doings, the Boston Bees and the Chicago Cubs split a double bill. Sebastian Sisti's long fly in the 10th scored Eddie Miller for a 2-1 night-cap Bee victory after Bill Nicholson's three-run homer helped the Cubs win the first game, 8-2.

The Philadelphia-Pittsburgh tilt was postponed by rain.

Biggest news in the American league was Red Rolfe's eyewash and its wondrous cure. The redhead has been bothered with a minor eye ailment. He found a new prescription yesterday and promptly belted out triples and a homer to pace the Yanks to a 6-4 win over the St. Louis Browns.

The see-saw American league first-place race kept up its dizzy doings. The Cleveland Indians, on home runs by Ben Chapman, Lou Boudreau and Ken Keltner, beat the Athletics 8-5 and went into the top spot. Young Sid Hudson of the Washington Senators scattered nine hits to down the Detroit Tigers, 7-3, and drop them from the loop lead.

Bobby Doerr, Boston second sacker "celebrated" his being dropped to seventh place in the batting order by belting a 13th inning home run to give the Red Sox a 2-1 decision over the Chicago White Sox in the day's biggest duel.

TIKKEYS TO PLAY

Tasty Tastes, with Sonny Wimbrow scheduled to take the mound, will tackle the Nite club team Sunday in a single game at Blue Goose field at 2:30 p. m., it was announced by the team managers today.

McNEILL, BOBBY HARMAN TANGLE IN SEMI-FINALS

NEW YORK, (AP)—Don McNeill and Bobby Harman fought their way into the semi-finals of the New York state championship golf tournament today.

McNeill, Grand Rapids college graduate and ranked No. 3 nationally, defeated Tom Kelly of Portland, Ore., yesterday, 6-0, 6-2, while Harman eliminated Joe Fishback of New York, 6-8, 6-0, 6-3.

Green Sox Get New Manager

Players Threaten Strike After Caldwell Ouster.

A threatened strike of nine players was thwarted last night when rain cancelled a game at Findlay. The men demanded Caldwell's return before they would take the field.

Club directors gave no reason for Caldwell's release, although dissatisfaction has been voiced over the team's fourth place in the standings. Business Manager A. O. Baumann said the ouster would not be reconsidered and "events must take their course."

In games last night, the league-leading Lima Pandas crushed Tiffin 19 to 8, and Mansfield downed cellar-dwelling Fostoria 11 to 2.

Trosky Dons Specs To Improve Fielding.

PHILADELPHIA —(AP)— Hal Trosky may join the ranks of spectacled ball players within a few days. When the Big Indian first baseman took the field here for practice before today's game, he was wearing a pair of green tinted glasses. He revealed he was fitted in Cleveland a few days ago and plans to use the glasses once he becomes accustomed to them. "I won't use them at bat," he said, "but will probably use them on the field." He explained he has had trouble following the course of thrown balls.

Cincy Calls on Derringer to Face Brooklyn; Takes 6-5 Verdict Under Lights.

(By Associated Press)

CINCINNATI—Off to a good start with a 6-5 night triumph, the Reds called Paul Derringer to try his newly perfected knuckle ball in the second encounter of a "finish fight" with Brooklyn over the National league lead today.

Manager Leo Durocher scheduled Curt Davis, his prize purchase from St. Louis, or Terrible Tex Carleton of no-hit fame to stop Cincinnati.

Bucky Walters and Ival Goodman teamed up for the Reds' success in the skirmish under the lights. Walters allowed only five hits while Goodman singled home the winning run in the eighth inning.

The Dodger trimming was the Reds' sixth straight victory and the twelfth of the season for their ace hurler.

With first place at stake, Cincinnati sluggers jumped on three Flatbush hurlers, Whitlow Wyatt, Tot Pressnell and Vito Tamulis, for 11 hits but it was anybody's game until the last.

A walk, a wild throw and Joe Medwick's long fly gave Brooklyn two runs in the first inning. The Reds scored three times in their half of the round.

Another Dodger run was counted in the second, on Pee Wee Reese's single, to tie the score. Then Wyatt and Walters settled down into a pitching duel in which Bucky allowed only one hit in four innings.

The Reds scored a run in the sixth and another in the seventh, when Pressnell relieved Wyatt. Sparked by Dixie Walker's double, the Dodgers counted two runs in the eighth on Dixie Walker's double, a low throw, a single and a fly ball to knot the count again.

* * *

Sons of Herman Seek Ninth Straight Win.

Sons of Herman softball aggregation will seek their ninth straight victory tonight when then journey to Sycamore to tangle with the Sycamore All-stars at 6 p. m. Freddie Caver has been selected by Manager Beeber to take over the mound duties for the Hermans in tonight's tussle.

Commissioner Investigates

Looks Into 'Alleged Illness' of Patsy Perroni.

COLUMBUS—(INS)—An investigation into the "alleged illness" which forced Patsy Perroni, Canton boxer, to cancel his scheduled bout Monday night with Jack "Buddy" Walker, Columbus negro who holds the Ohio heavyweight championship, was launched today by Col. Alfred Ballin, chairman of the Columbus boxing commission.

"Any attempt by Perroni to go through with matches against Gunnar Barlund and Roscoe Toles before he meets Walker," Ballin asserted, "will result in his being suspended by the national boxing association and banned from fighting in 36 states.

"Inasmuch as he fought in Massillon last Monday night, the excuse he gave looks pretty thin."

Meanwhile, Walker was matched to meet Johnny Whiters, rated No. 6 nationally by Ring magazine, Wednesday night in a 10-round go.

McLemore Predicts New Golf Book Will Have Big Sale

By HENRY McLEMORE

NEW YORK—(AP)—Alex J. Morrison, the golf teacher, has just published his second volume on the game.

* * *

It is titled "Better Golf Without Practice," and when you recall that Morrison's first book was "A New Way to Better Golf" it becomes obvious what the third volume of the trilogy will deal with when written.

It is almost certain to be "Better Golf Without Playing It at All," and I unhesitatingly predict that it not only will have a tremendous sale, but that it will go a long way toward eradicating much misery and suffering, and earn for the author a place in posterity as a great humanitarian.

In his current book Professor Morrison advocates relaxing in a chair and practicing your golf some mentally instead of physically. Unfortunately, he doesn't allow the student to step right through the entire book. After four restful chapters he suggests that you get out on the golf course and try out a few of the things you have learned in the chair, resulting in the case of your mates chair, your Alex J. Morrison chair, so to speak.

Now the present book is a great step forward, and should enjoy much success, but volume No. 3 is the little gem we can hardly wait for Alex to write.

Golf without playing golf! What a boon to mankind!

No more tattered tempers. No more aching feet, no more blisters or sunburn. No more descents into treacherous traps. No more caddies who smirk and laugh. No more 18 holes to struggle through—just the cool and comfort of the 19th hole, where the game will be played from beginning to end, and where every man will be fair the club championship would a national champion.

Think of what a delightful affair under the golf-without-actually-playing-golf conditions.

All the contestants would gather in the 19th hole, slip into something cool and slip something cool into themselves, and then mentally play the 18 holes.

You'll have to excuse me now. I have just thought myself a sensational 32 and I'm in a hurry to post it. It may be good enough to win the fourth flight.

Plan to Air Protests to Umps

Harsh-speaking players, who are not used to making public announcements of their protests to baseball umpires, may be red-faced if they use their usual phraseology, when their words come booming back from loud-speakers. Pictured above is the new "periscope mike" which will be used in the sixth annual national semi-pro baseball tournament at Wichita, Kan., Aug. 16 to 28. When an argument starts, the arbiter simply will touch a foot lever and up will spring a sensitive microphone which will let the fans in on the discussion. In the picture with the new device are Paul Fair, left, umpire-in-chief of the National Semi-Pro Baseball congress, and Jim Lindsley, right, a member of the Wichita Solomon semi-pros.

When Blond Meets Blond

Janet Shock, Dorothy Gardner Tangle for Golf Title.

CINCINNATI —(AP)— Two pretty blonds met on the Losantiville golf course today to determine the state women's golf championship—and the supremacy of Denison or Dartmouth.

The playoff was between Miss Janet Shock, a former state champion from Dayton and a recent Denison university graduate, and Miss Dorothy Gardner of Steubenville, last winter's carnival queen at Dartmouth college.

Of the two, Miss Gardner hits more powerful shots but through the tournament Miss Shock has displayed an expert calmness and ability to do her best when the going is toughest.

Miss Shock entered the finals by defeating Mrs. Burt Weil of Cincinnati, in a close match which ended on the eighteenth green with the victor two up.

Miss Gardner had an easier time. She rushed into a commanding early lead and closed in on Isabel Ogilvie of Cleveland, 4 and 3.

Nick's Place Outfit To Play Twin Bill.

Nick's Place softball combination will travel to Attica Sunday for a doubleheader with the Attica C. C. C. boys, Manager Pete Metz announced today. Metz asked that all players be at Nick's Place at 12 o'clock Sunday. The Attica club has a record of 12 wins and five defeats for the current season. Paul Appleman and Warren Gross will toe the rubber for the Nick's outfit, with Bill Frend behind the plate.

GAMES POSTPONED

All games scheduled in the Y. M. C. A. league were called off yesterday because of rain. Don Cram, Y. M. C. A. athletic director, said today the games slated for yesterday will be played later in the season.

Altas, Challengers To Play Two Games.

Alta Lumbers will tangle with Barnes Challengers on the baseball diamond at Liberty park in a double header Sunday, with Dale McKinley hurling the first game and Joe Wentz the second for the Tinkeys. The first game is scheduled for 1:30 p. m., and the second for 3 p. m. All players are requested by Manager Pete Shadek of the Altas to be on hand at 1:15 p. m.

GODOY, JACK DEMPSEY MAY FIGHT 6-ROUNDER

NEW YORK—(INS)—Al Weill, manager of Arturo Godoy, today said he was "seriously considering" a six-round match between Godoy and Jack Dempsey, 45-year-old former heavyweight champion, for September in the United States or South America.

Weill revealed that offers for the match had come from San Diego, Buenos Aires in Argentina, and Caracas, Venezuela.

Regain Batting Power

Indians Pound Out 15 Hits In Halting A's, 8 to 5; Feller Hurls Today.

PHILADELPHIA — Recapturing their slugging power and first place at the same time enhanced the prospects of a successful eastern tour for the Cleveland Indians, who try tonight to make it two in a row over the Athletics.

Bob Feller was Cleveland's nominee for mound duty under the lights. Seeking his 14th victory, he was slated to work against Johnny Babich.

Swinging back into early season hitting form, the Tribe clubbed Chubby Dean and Ed Heusser for 15 hits to take the first of its 12-game eastern series 8 to 5 yesterday.

Ben Chapman, leading off in a batting order shake-up, set the pace by blasting a homer to start the first inning. Lou Boudreau, moved to the No. 3 batting spot, and Ken Keltner also got circuit smashes, the latter coming when two men were on bases.

Boudreau's performance indicated the troublesome third spot might be solved. The seventh man to fill the position this season, he got a double and a single as well as his homer. The shortstop also figured in three double plays.

Southpaw Al Milnar was credited with the victory, his 12th, although he retired as the Athletics turned on the pressure in the sixth inning. Joe Dobson finished and allowed only one hit.

CLEAR WAY FOR 2ND HAY CROP, FARMERS TOLD

Conservationist at Mansfield CCC Camp Says Rain Will Benefit Later Crop.

Richland county farmers were urged today to cut their early hay crop and remove it from the fields as soon as possible so that the second crop can benefit from the early summer rainfall

The advice came from F. W. Sellner, soil conservationist at the Mansfield CCC camp, who said the first hay crop has been delayed because rain prevented farmers from cutting it and storing it

"Of course all farmers can't make grass silage, so the first cutting may be stacked or put in one part of the barn for use as supplemental feed when pastures get short in July and August," Sellner pointed out.

"The ground is well filled with moisture at present, but it is constantly being used by plants and passing away as under ground water," Sellner said. "Pastures closely grazed will allow greater quantities of run-off, and it is run-off water that causes soil erosion," he added.

"It is better to put up an extra load of hay now than to be caught short in the spring," Sellner advised. "Feed shortage will force farmers to over graze meadow seedings and pastures, impairing next year's hay production and causing losses of both water and soil."

SEWER SQUAD RETURNS GEM

PHILADELPHIA — (UP) — The age of chivalry lives again.

When Mrs. Margaret Craig was transferring her $300 diamond ring from her finger to her handbag, the ring slipped from her hand and rolled down a sewer.

Frantic, she called on street cleaners for assistance. All one night and most of the next day, a crew of four combed through muck in the sewer.

They recovered the ring, returned it to Mrs. Craig and gallantly refused her proferred reward.

NEW HELP FOR FOLKS OVER 40

Who "Feel Old" From Need of Iron & Vitamin B1

A large number of people over 40 do not get enough iron to make red blood; and they also fail to get enough vital Vitamin B1.

As a result, these folks are in poor health. They have too little energy or appetite. They sleep restlessly and often develop certain types of nervousness and neuritis. Their shortage of Vitamin B1 indirectly may affect the glands, stomach, intestines and other organs.

A shortage of iron and Vitamin B1 often causes the following—
Low vitality
Frequent spells of ill health
Tiredness
Palpitation
Pale cheeks
Restless sleep
Certain nerve disorders—neuritis
Lack of vigor
Short breath
Loss of appetite

OBTAIN FACTS FROM ACTIONS OF LIVE SPIES

Former British Intelligence Officers Oppose Killing Of Enemy Agents.

PHILADELPHIA — (INS) — Smart governments don't shoot spies—they don't even arrest them according to Major Thomas Coulson, former British intelligence officer.

"The last thing to do with spies is arrest them. They're too valuable," asserted Major Coulson. After you've located them, they're worth infinitely more to you than they ever were to the enemy.

Varied uses can be made of foreign spies once they are discovered, the former espionage expert explained. For example, forged documents can be substituted for information sent by the foreign agent to his country in the belief he is undetected.

"Europe's secret agencies," said Major Coulson, "all agree that the United States intelligence services are probably the best in the world." This government, he said, has never admitted losing a vital document—although it doesn't follow that none has even been stolen.

Exploding many hoary theories about spies and their operations, the major disclosed that spies rarely resort to actual sabotage—for example in munitions factories.

"A spy would hardly dream of sabotaging shell production in the Frankford Arsenal in Philadelphia," continued Major Coulson. "He'd try to achieve the same object by fomenting a strike in some typewriter factory, say, that is making fuses for these shells. By blocking production of these, he does as much damage as if he had destroyed a dozen big guns."

Major Coulson, incidentally, was one of 200 secret agents who trapped Mata Hari, wily German who died before a firing squad. "She wasn't pretty," he remarked. "When I knew her, she was middle-aged and fat."

DOG TAKES TRIP

WORCESTER, Mass — (INS) —Usually hard to shake freight-handlers were somewhat taken aback when on opening a freight car from Portland, Me., a large police dog leaped out into the railroad yards. They fed the dog but were unable to trace its owner.

HOT DOGS

SAN FRANCISCO — (U.P.) — Up until the time President and Mrs. Roosevelt served King George and Queen Elizabeth with hot dogs, the consumption at the Golden Gate International Exposition was about 16,000 daily. Since then it has averaged between 21,000 and 24,000.

RICHLAND FARMERS PROTECTED FROM POOR WHEAT CROP LOSS

The wet weather last month may cause heavy damage to Richland county's wheat crop, but at least 330 farmers here have federal crop insurance, protecting them up to 75 per cent of the value of their wheat, G. L. Taylor, county AAA chairman, said today.

Taylor said the full extent of the loss will not be known until after harvest this month, but farmers who have crop insurance will receive protection against loss by wet weather, storm damage, or grain diseases.

Sections of the county have been hard hit by wheat rust and blight, preventing the grain heads from filling out, County Agent George B. Ganyard said.

Taylor explained that new insurance rates for the 1941 crop will soon be ready to mail to farmers and applications for next year's insurance will be received as soon as the rates go out.

Insurance premium rates range from one-half to two bushels of grain or its cash equivalent per acre of insured grain. Premiums are payable when application for insurance is made and in cash, a warehouse receipt for wheat, in an advance against AAA soil conservation payments due the farmer.

SPRY AT 114

NEW PLYMOUTH, New Zealand—(INS)—An old Maori woman of 114 years of age is so spry that she took part in the Centennial procession near here. Mangamanferau, as is her name, is the oldest living Maori and she is thought to be the oldest living person in New Zealand. She has full possession of her faculties and when recently sought out for an interview was found weeding her vegetable garden.

SAVED HIMSELF

WAPAKONETA, O. — (U.P.) — Al Winemiller, armless as result of a hunting accident, used his muscles and his head to save himself from drowning in nearby Indian lake.

Standing up in a boat, Winemiller lost his balance and tumbled into the water, attired in a heavy hunting coat. He quick-wittedly managed to float on his back until his fishing companions rescued him.

CLEAR WAY FOR 2ND HAY CROP, FARMERS TOLD

Conservationist at Mansfield CCC Camp Says Rain Will Benefit Later Crop.

Richland county farmers were urged today to cut their early hay crop and remove it from the fields as soon as possible so that the second crop can benefit from the early summer rainfall.

The advice came from F. W. Sellner, soil conservationist at the Mansfield CCC camp, who said the first hay crop has been delayed because rain prevented farmers from cutting it and storing it.

"Of course all farmers can't make grass silage, so the first cutting may be stacked or put in one part of the barn for use as supplemental feed when pastures get short in July and August," Sellner pointed out.

"The ground is well filled with moisture at present, but it is constantly being used by plants and passing away as under ground water," Sellner said "Pastures closely grazed will allow greater quantities of run-off, and it is run-off water that causes soil erosion," he added.

"It is better to put up an extra load of hay now than to be caught short in the spring," Sellner advised. "Feed shortage will force farmers to over graze meadow seedings and pastures, impairing next year's hay production and causing losses of both water and soil."

SEWER SQUAD RETURNS GEM

PHILADELPHIA — (U.P.) — The age of chivalry lives again.

When Mrs. Margaret Craig was transferring her $300 diamond ring from her finger to her handbag, the ring slipped from her hand and rolled down a sewer.

Frantic, she called on street cleaners for assistance. All one night and most of the next day, a crew of four combed through muck in the sewer.

They recovered the ring, returned it to Mrs. Craig and gallantly refused her proferred reward.

NEW HELP FOR FOLKS OVER 40

Who "Feel Old" From Need of Iron & Vitamin B1

A large number of people over 40 do not get enough iron to make red blood; and they also fail to get enough vital Vitamin B1.

As a result, these folks are in poor health. They have too little energy or appetite. They sleep restlessly and often develop certain types of nervousness and neuritis. Their shortage of Vitamin B1 indirectly may affect the glands, stomach, intestines and other organs.

A shortage of iron and Vitamin B1 often causes the following—
Low vitality
Frequent spells of ill health
Tiredness
Palpitation
Pale cheeks
Restless sleep
Certain nerve disorders neuritis
Lack of vigor
Short breath
Loss of appetite
ENRICH contains Iron & Vitamin B1. Try ENRICH.

Men and women over 40 can now obtain extra iron and extra Vitamin B1 by taking delicious "ENRICH," a new diet-aid which is helping thousands who formerly felt played out and tired from insufficient iron and Vitamin B1. Just to show you how much iron and Vitamin B1 is in ENRICH read this.—

You would have to eat 3½ pounds of beefsteak or 7 lbs. of spinach every day to get the same amount of iron daily as in ONE OUNCE OF ENRICH. And besides you would have to eat ¼ pound baker's yeast every day to get the same Vitamin B1 now obtained daily from ENRICH.

ENRICH tastes good and often produces an amazing improvement in a short time. Costs but a few cents a day; contains no alcohol or stimulant drugs. Does not harm teeth. Gives satisfaction or money refunded.

OBTAIN FACTS FROM ACTIONS OF LIVE SPIES

Former British Intelligence Officers Oppose Killing Of Enemy Agents.

PHILADELPHIA — (INS) — Smart governments don't shoot spies—they don't even arrest them according to Major Thomas Coulson, former British intelligence officer.

"The last thing to do with spies is arrest them. They're too valuable," asserted Major Coulson. After you've located them, they're worth infinitely more to you than they ever were to the enemy.

Varied uses can be made of foreign spies once they are discovered, the former espionage expert explained. For example, forged documents can be substituted for information sent by the foreign agent to his country in the belief he is undetected.

"Europe's secret agencies," said Major Coulson, "all agree that the United States intelligence services are probably the best in the world." This government, he said, has never admitted losing a vital document—although it doesn't follow that none has even been stolen.

Exploding many hoary theories about spies and their operations, the major disclosed that spies rarely resort to actual sabotage—for example in munitions factories.

"A spy would hardly dream of sabotaging shell production in the Frankford Arsenal in Philadelphia," continued Major Coulson. "He'd try to achieve the same object by fomenting a strike in some typewriter factory, say, that is making fuses for these shells. By blocking production of these, he does as much damage as if he had destroyed a dozen big guns."

Major Coulson, incidentally, was one of 200 secret agents who trapped Mata Hari, wily German who died before a firing squad. "She wasn't pretty," he remarked. "When I knew her, she was middle-aged and fat."

DOG TAKES TRIP

WORCESTER, Mass — (INS) —Usually hard to shake freight-handlers were somewhat taken aback when on opening a freight car from Portland, Me., a large police dog leaped out into the railroad yards. They fed the dog but were unable to trace its owner.

HOT DOGS

SAN FRANCISCO — (U.P.) — Up until the time President and Mrs. Roosevelt served King George and Queen Elizabeth with hot dogs, the consumption at the Golden Gate International Exposition was about 16,000 daily. Since then it has averaged between 21,000 and 24,000.

RICHLAND FARMERS PROTECTED FROM POOR WHEAT CROP LOSS

The wet weather last month may cause heavy damage to Richland county's wheat crop, but at least 330 farmers here have federal crop insurance, protecting them up to 75 per cent of the value of their wheat, G. L. Taylor, county AAA chairman, said today.

Taylor said the full extent of the loss will not be known until after harvest this month, but farmers who have crop insurance will receive protection against loss by wet weather, storm damage, or grain diseases.

Sections of the county have been hard hit by wheat rust and blight, preventing the grain heads from filling out, County Agent George B. Ganyard said.

Taylor explained that new insurance rates for the 1941 crop will soon be ready to mail to farmers and applications for next year's insurance will be received as soon as the rates go out.

Insurance premium rates range from one-half to two bushels of grain or its cash equivalent per acre of insured grain. Premiums are payable when application for insurance is made and in cash, a warehouse receipt for wheat, in an advance against AAA soil conservation payments due the farmer.

SPRY AT 114

NEW PLYMOUTH, New Zealand—(INS)—An old Maori woman of 114 years of age is so spry that she took part in the Centennial procession near here. Mangamanferau, as is her name, is the oldest living Maori and she is thought to be the oldest living person in New Zealand. She has full possession of her faculties and when recently sought out for an interview was found weeding her vegetable garden.

SAVED HIMSELF

WAPAKONETA, O. — (U.P.) — Al Winemiller, armless as result of a hunting accident, used his muscles and his head to save himself from drowning in nearby Indian lake.

Standing up in a boat, Winemiller lost his balance and tumbled into the water, attired in a heavy hunting coat. He quick-wittedly managed to float on his back until his fishing companions rescued him.

ONE MISSING FROM CENSUS

KING CITY, Mo.—(AP)—For 10 years, King City residents used a catchy quip to reply to questions of visitors regarding the town's population.

"It's 1,100 and I'm the one" was the stock answer.

Now all of that will be changed. The 1940 census count lists the population at 1,100.

So many claimed to be "the" one "that something had to be done about it," that was the theory of one census taker.

MAJOR ISSUES FAIL TO SHOW MARKET TREND

Buyers Seem Wary in Spite of Business Prospects and Defense Plans.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Trades searched unsuccessfully for definite stock market trends today as leading issues generally idled in narrow territory.

Despite prospects for business, heavy defenses spending, less onerous taxes on munitions manufacturers and the realization record amounts of static capital are seeking investment opportunities, share buyers, brokers said, apparently were unable to shake off their timidity.

Bonds and commodities were uneven. "Free" sterling displayed steadier tendencies.

Stocks on the upside occasionally included Bethlehem, Woodworth, Sears Roebuck, United Aircraft, Glenn Martin, Westinghouse, American Can, American Smelting, American Telephone, Standard Oil of N. J. and Goodyear.

A hopeful sign was observed in reports that residential building operations are keeping well ahead of the previous year.

Among items studied in boardrooms included: Further improvement in retail spending throughout the country was reported by Dun & Bradstreet which estimated store distribution this week topped the comparable period last year by 3 to 8 per cent.

Judge Huston also modified a previous court order to permit Gray to use his car to go to and from work. When Gray was sentenced 10 days ago his driving license was suspended for one year by Judge Huston.

CONFER TODAY

Plant Heads, City to Meet on Rocky Fork Dredging.

Executives of the Tappan Stove company were to confer with city officials today on a proposal to dredge Rocky Fork creek as a means of relieving flood conditions in the city's industrial district.

Rocky Fork creek, running to the north and east of the city, fills up with soil and stones over a period of years, and during the past 11 years had added four feet to its bed, according to Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton. It was last dredged, he said, in 1929.

As the creek becomes shallower it is capable of carrying off less storm water. Two weeks ago during the severe rain storms, the creek filled to carrying capacity and the storm sewers backed up into the first floor of the Tappan plant.

Engineers of the company will confer with Crafton and City Engineer W. C. Statler today on getting the creek dredged.

OPPOSE DRILL

27 Cincinnati Pastors Hit Military Training Plans.

CINCINNATI —(INS)— Twenty-seven protestant clergymen of Cincinnati today went on record as strenuously objecting to compulsory training and conscription in the United States.

In letters to President Roosevelt and senators A. V. Donahey and Robert A. Taft, they declared that conscription during peace time would result in a very serious destruction of national harmony.

CHAPTER XXV

Monty swallowed again, determinedly. He would have to squelch the burning within him and go on building up the other man. Monty realized that his decision on this point was an unselfish one — and yet somehow the realization gave him no satisfaction, no inner calm such as quiet sacrifice of personal desire ordinarily brings. He had often experienced self-denial in favor of others, and had discovered the peculiar exaltation likely to result therefrom. Into him somehow would come an intuitive sense of rightness from which he garnered new strength. But here, dealing with the intimate heart matters concerning him and Rosemary and another man, his experience was mainly one of sad confusion. He simply did not know that he was here bucking one of Nature's most exacting demands.

Nevertheless he sighed and plunged on.

"Bob King has boundless energies, my dear, and is a man of high moral principles as well. Isn't that what a girl wants in a husband? Capability, plus moral strength? It is what America is built of; indeed it is the very stuff of civilization!"

She nodded. Her chin was down on her hand now, supported by her knee. Fingers tapped and pulled a little at her pretty lips. She gazed off at nothing.

In that moment the youth of her was emphasized to Dr. Montgomery anew. The youth and quietly powerful feminine lure. For one thing, Rosemary Taylor had a beautifully proportioned figure, even though she was a bit small. Her posture was ideal, her coloring that of excellent health. Today she was dressed again in western togs, mostly from her own store. She had taken to wearing the dark blue jodhpurs that flared saucily at the hips and yet were tight enough around her ankles to permit freedom in working and hiking through the forest. She detested "trousers" for women, or anything mannish that girls sometimes affect. She could wear the jodhpurs with assurance that they were entirely feminine.

There was a crimson shirt and a modish Chimayo Indian jacket in blue, red and gray designs, zipped up front with a dangling beaded rabbit's foot. Curls today were kept corraled by a neckerchief tied peasant style.

The total effect was perfect to Dr. Montgomery (as it would have been to any man) and it only increased the yearning in him now, the yearning he felt was futile. Resolutely, though, he turned to speak again and encourage her in her confessed love.

It was Rosemary who spoke first this time, however.

"Monty," she began, "it's sweet of you to say these things about Bob. But I doubt if he can ever love me now. I don't believe any man could love a woman who has a murder on her hands!"

* * *

Bob King, able at last to relax a moment, leaned against the side of a Forest Service truck and breathed deeply, studying the scene before him. Twenty men and twice as many C. C. C. boys were still laboring over a half-mile slope of the mountain there. They had won a victory, but they were all dog-tired.

"Walters," Bob suddenly spoke, "go tell that last shift to stay on the job all night, and let the others come in for some rest. The last group is fresh, but the others are about dead."

"All right, sir. I know they'll be glad."

The man Walters started off through a blackened expanse, passing on the order as he came to the fighting crew. Walters looked like a black ghost, and so did Bob King for that matter. Hardly an inch of white skin showed.

Presently twenty five or thirty more ghosts, young and old, trudged laboriously to the truck there, and after a little bit Mr. McKee came wearily to the truck. The supervisor looked heavy-faced; he hadn't slept in more than 30 hours nor eaten in 24-twenty-four.

"Nothing but smoke left, Mr. McKee," Bob reported. "You better get some rest yourself, don't you think, sir? The mop-up crew is fairly fresh."

The elder man nodded his thanks. "We're lucky, Bob," he ventured. "If we hadn't had the dynamite — lord! She'd still be raging. She'd of gone all over Canaan Butte, Mount Royal, and into the Tucumcaris, I guess. That would have wiped out the biggest sawmills and at least fifty houses. And there's still six weeks before we can hope for any rain. This forest is nothing but a kindling patch!"

Bob nodded, wanly, staring at the blackened area. The actual burn had been less than a square mile, but from this point of vantage it looked funereal indeed, vast and smoldering like a glimpse of some sleeping hell. No sight in the world is more depressing than a virgin forest area that had just swept by fire.

The blaze here, ten miles from Navajo Mountain on which the McKees lived and on which was Rosemary Taylor's trading post, had been one of six this month already. The hazard was mounting daily, more men had been stationed on night and day emergency call, and two new trucks with tools and equipment were available. But still the need was great.

"Unless the tourists stop tossing matches, and unless the lightning behaves," Bob growled as he rode away with his boss, "one of these fires'll burn everything from Canada to Mexico!"

Mr. McKee nodded. It wasn't such an extreme exaggeration, at that, he felt. It is hard to overemphasize the menace of forest fire.

"Do you mean to say, Rosemary, that you—you yourself—are involved in a murder?"

Dr. Montgomery was incredulous anew. In her impulsive revelation that she loved Bob King, Rosemary had already upset her friend tremendously. In fact he had all but forgotten the letter until she referred to it again.

"Not directly, Monty," she said, in a low tone, still gazing at the lake. "But it's just about the same. I mean, my brother Jack has—well, he's the murderer! That's why the letter has simply floored me, don't you see?"

She turned to him with pain on her pretty face, shaking her head and licking her lips, her eyes finding his. She held out the letter to him, too, signifying that he was to read it. Monty calmly read it through before he spoke again.

"But Rosemary," he suddenly said, "it does not say positively that Jack killed the man. This is simply a report from a lawyer. It specifically states that Jack is 'accused' of murder. Accused only."

"You mean—?"

"It means that Jack may be innocent. In fact, my dear, the writer, this Mr. Olmstead, says that he believes Jack is innocent. You must not be too hasty in—"

"Oh!"

"Undoubtedly Jack has told the lawyer he is not guilty, and if the lawyer did not believe him he wouldn't accept the case."

"I thought—but—don't lawyers take cases anyway? For pay? Regardless of the clients—our law firm handle dnothing but civil cases, Monty, and Mr. Bickford held a contempt for—"

"Mr. Bickford is unjustified in concluding that criminal lawyers have no principles, Rosemary! Some of the finest men are criminal attorneys. There's Beauchamp, in Hartford, who was two years ahead of me in college, and Dr. Overton on the Columbia faculty. Men of character!"

Monty was emphatic. He paused to gesture with the letter. He moved an inch closer to Rosemary and pointed out a specific passage:

"—the boy's innocence of course must be proven, but I am convinced that this can be done, although the court routine will be trying to him and no doubt to you, his sister, as well."

"There!" Monty exclaimed. "That's a definite point in your favor, and Jack's!"

Rosemary looked her gratitude for that, but asked, "All right, but whatever can I do, Monty? I feel like the helpless little sister I am. I'm away out here in Arizona, and he's in New York without a dime, I suppose. He never did save a cent. If I rushed back there I couldn't help. He's the type who wouldn't let me even be a comfort to him. He—Jack is—"

Plainly Rosemary was about to resort to tears again, and this gave Dr. Montgomery new concern. He folded the letter, murmured a little meditative "mmm" and made a snap decision.

"Oh I say—I—Rosemary, I have it!"

"What, Monty?"

"I shall write to Dr. Overton himself!"

"Dr.—Overton?"

Pledge of Allegiance To Flag.

"I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one Nation indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

Another Myth Exploded.

MYTHS have been exploding with the frequency of Nazi bombs these days, and another one exploded yesterday.

The national advisory defense commission announced it had placed orders for 25,000 military and naval planes, at a cost of $100,000,000, but added the order wouldn't be completed until 1942, a year and a half away at best.

The myth that has exploded in this case is the old familiar one that if this country had to, it could arm to the teeth practically over night.

Apparently, we can't. At any rate, a year and a half isn't overnight, no matter how figuratively you define the word.

There have been other myths—such as the impregnability of the French Maginot line, the superiority of the French army over any other, the weakness of the Germans in oil, other supplies and food and the belief that the one-time allies would soon have a great deal of Europe on their side against Germany.

The Maginot line is gone and so is the French army. The Germans haven't run out of oil or food. There are no allies. Great Britain is fighting alone against the axis powers, who are now the allies themselves.

And the United States, which is used to calling itself the most powerful in the world, has learned that it is woefully weak in a military and naval sense in the face of world conditions at present, and that it can't make up those deficiencies over night as it thought it could.

One by one, we've had all the fairy stories proven untrue.

It's a good thing that we have had our eyes thus opened.

We'll certainly want to make certain that the time it takes us to rearm is whittled to a minimum.

It isn't any myth that we can do things faster than anyone else. We've just got to know that we must—and want to.

Private Citizen's Job

IN AN ADDRESS given before the annual meeting of the Texas Bar association, Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas gave lawyers some advice which all other citizens could profitably follow.

"Democracy," he reminded his audience, "must be practised in order to exist. Active, vigorous participation in the processes of government and in public affairs is one significant contribution which the bar can make as democracy faces its world crisis.

"There is another—the vigilant patrol of the domestic scene lest fear create an intolerance which is inconsistent with our Bill of Rights."

Too many Americans have considered themselves too busy to participate in public affairs, sometimes going so far in their practices of leaving everything to the politicians that they have not even exercised their voting privilege. It is time to get over such laziness.

Being cynical about politicians is harmful to democracy, too. It is more useful to recognize that politicians are necessary to a free political system and then to see to it that honest and able politicians are chosen to run our public affairs.

If democracy is to be worth fighting for when threatened by military attack it should be kept worthy by daily exercise of its principles and methods in all governmental, educational and economic affairs.

Leadership

THERE are two current theories of politics and government directly opposed to each other. One is that a leader should find out what the people want, and then lead them in that direction. The other is that the leader should have definite ideas himself as to what course should be followed, and try to persuade people to go along with him.

Obviously this is a difficult time for anyone in public life to represent the people, because the people themselves are confused. And because they are confused by the unfamiliar situations all about them, their leaders themselves are confused. Never, perhaps, in American history has it been so hard for leaders to know what to do and how to advise their followers.

But it is necessary, especially in these times, for our political parties and other important groups to have clear and confident leaders, who know what is going on and who have definite ideas of the way to handle pressing problems. There is no time to wait until confused public opinion clarifies itself by the slow process of a muddy reservoir.

The democracies that have fallen in Europe have fallen for lack of sound leadership. For us, leadership may be partisan or nonpartisan, it may come from one party or another, but it must be capable of unifying and directing the nation strongly, by our free American processes.

There are times in history, too, when it may matter less just what you do than that you do it honestly, confidently and strongly. The worst of all situations in a crisis is to be incapable of action.

Cops Who Know the Folks

AS BIG CITY police systems have become modernized, which usually means operating chiefly in cars with radio equipment, they have sometimes done less effective work in a few important fields. In one city, for example, it was found that robbery and auto stealing had been greatly curtailed but that burglary and other crimes of stealthy type were increasing.

The safety director and police department have decided to combine their modern, motorized system with the best feature of the old patrolman-on-the-beat plan. Hereafter the crews of the patrolling zone cars will be responsible for a definite area of the city and must become thoroughly acquainted with the people and business of that area. They will then be able to recognize strangers at once and to note any abnormal activities there.

Economy in many cities has prevented police departments from normal increase in size, but better understanding of the problems to be handled may make the smaller forces more efficient.

The latest symbol of civilization is a bomber-wrecked schoolhouse.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—It's a funny world . . . and not a very big one either . . . Sometimes you run into people you've never seen before, and if they impress you, you sort of fix them in your mind . . . You sort of catalog them, engrave them on your memory . . . Then you go away . . . and later, maybe months later . . . maybe years later, you run into them again . . . They seem familiar . . . They tug at something in your memory . . . And then you recall them . . . Very often it goes like that.

One day last summer I was coming up from the South and I got on a plane in Washington . . . There was a blue-eyed girl on the plane who carried a book in her lap . . . It was "Escape," the novel from which the film has been made . . . There was also a man on the plane whom everyone knew . . . He had a big smile, and a big, white carnation in his lapel . . . And he was talking about the World Fair . . . Of course, he was Grover Whalen . . .

He was talking to the girl, and to other people, even to me, and finally, afterwhile, the plane came down at Newark and the last I saw of Whalen he was climbing into a car . . . Along with the other passengers, and the blond girl, I got into a coach that the airlines provide and was driven into Manhattan.

* * *

YESTERDAY I walked into a midtown restaurant and saw Tom Waller, of Paramount, sitting at a table with a girl with blond hair and blue eyes . . . He said, "This is Grace McDonald, and I want you to know her because she has just made a picture for us, and she is leaving shortly for Rye, New Hampshire, to act in a play, and I want you to be able to say that you knew her before she became great and famous."

Yes, it was the girl who was talking to Grover Whalen, and trying to read "Escape" on the plane . . . "I never did finish it," she said. "I tried all summer but something always happened."

Well, what about this Rye, N. H. trip? we asked . . . Rye is another stop on the ever growing summer barn theater circuit.

"It's a play about three people who love each other very much," she replied, "and I'm so excited I know this shrimp salad will give me heartburn."

When Miss McDonald talks about acting she forgets food, she forgets fashion, she forgets everything . . . Maybe you saw her in "Very Warm for May" . . . You will remember her in the picture, "Dancing on a Dime" . . . That is her style . . . She sings and dances . . . If she could become the Marilyn Miller of the theater she would be completely happy . . . But she realizes that dramatic acting, after all, is her final objective.

GRACE'S dad is well known around town. He is an executive on a film trade paper . . . But he spells his name McDonnell . . . Hers is McDonald . . . She lives only one block from the Fair, but has never seen it . . . "Because I've been too busy, honest."

The play she is doing in Rye is "Private Confusion" and it was written by Hardie Albright, the actor-author. "I'm tickled to death about it because it will give me a chance to work with some real honest to goodness actors," she says. "And no matter what the reviewers say, no matter how much they dislike me, I know that I'll learn a lot."

How Canada Feels About 'Union'

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON—Canadian newspapermen have been quite numerous in Washington of late.

Their papers and associations have been sending them in sizeable crowds to feel out Yankee opinion in connection with the war's application to their dominion. The National Press club has entertained a goodly delegation of them. Naturally they talk with us freely. And of course they are highly intelligent and informative.

Outstandingly they want this understood:

Canada is a country, all by itself.

They admit that it's British, but it isn't English—not by a darned sight. It went into the war as per a declaration absolutely of its own. If the English are licked, that won't mean that Canada is. If licked at all, it'll have to be licked independently.

Assume, for the sake of argument England capitulates.

I think our Yankee theory is that Canada simply will gravitate into the United States.

Far be it from the Canadians to think anything of the kind. They say they will welcome and will expect a close alliance with Uncle Sam. It'll be political and economic. It'll be the compactest kind of a union—but a union with a lower case "u."

But Canada's provinces won't be our states, for all that.

Canada will be a separate national entity.

I've asked these men, "What if the British fleet has to come over to Halifax? What'll be your attitude?"

"Oh," the answer is, "we'll welcome them as allies and help them all we can—but we're an independent sovereignty."

Now, here's another proposition: Suppose John Bull does blow up as an empire.

Nevertheless, Canada will be tolerably well taken care of as a member of the New World family. It'll belong to the Pan-American group. The United States won't be in a position to permit it to be jumped on from anywhere. Maybe it'll be only our ally—not an integral part of us. All the same, it will be that, in effect.

But, if today's central Britain goes flooey, what about Australia and New Zealand?

"You mean," answered one of my Canadian acquaintances, "a grab by Japan?

"Well, it doubtless will be interesting to us, as the Pacific situation is to us and to the United States today. Regardless of Australia, you Yankees don't want to see the Japs gobble the Dutch East Indies right now. You won't want to see any such grabbing done later, including Australia.

"Neither will we Canadians, as your partners, in some prospective later on. We'll be together on that issue no doubt, if Canada and the U. S. A. are hooked up, as allies—to the point of being almost the same thing.

"But remember, brothers is what we'll be—not one and the same.

"And Australia," he added, "will be pretty hard for the Japs to grab. Those boys are tough."

"Don't forget," supplemented my Canadian friend, "that we don't like the Japs any better than you do.

"We've got a Pacific coast, too, and a trade with the Orient and all that.

"Oh," he concluded, "we're one and the same bunch, but—remember—we're not going to become part of the United States, in the same sense as Maine or Oregon or Indiana."

Health and Diet

Don't Try To Emulate Hippo.

—By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

SWIMMING is accepted as the best form of all-round exercise. For the non-professional athlete, it has many advantages. There is no strain on the feet and it, therefore, appeals to many who cannot play golf, tennis or go on walking tours on account of flatfoot, arthritis or other pedal disability. And swimming exercises practically every muscle of the body.

Beware Infections.

Swimming has some health hazards of its own. One that is constantly debated is the possibility of nose and ear infections. These are generally blamed on dirty and contaminated water—pools, springs, lakes or rivers—but Dr. H. Marshall Taylor, of Jacksonville, Fla., has been calling our attention to other mechanisms.

Dr. Taylor had a number of patients with sinuses and ears infected as a result of swimming, in which contaminated water could hardly have been a factor, because they frequented a swimming pool fed by a spring having a flow in excess of 145,000 gallons of fresh water a minute. These pools had a very low bacteria count, and they contained no irritating chemicals.

We're Landlubbers.

The other factors which bring about these infections are structural in man's anatomy. Man is not adapted to an aquatic existence. As in all air-breathing animals, the epithelial cells which line the nose are admirably adapted to resisting air-borne infection, but are not capable of dealing with water-borne infection.

Air-breathing animals who lead a semi-aquatic existence, according to Dr. Taylor's extensive studies, are capable of closing the nose and ears while under water, and so protect their respiratory mucous membranes. The alligator has a muscle around the openings of the nose so that they can be closed while he is under water. Semi-aquatic birds have no nostrils—the pelican and the cormorant.

The hippopotamus is a mammal, like man, but unlike man an aquatic mammal and its underwater mechanism is perfect. Did you ever see a hippopotamus with sinus trouble? No, and you never will! The reason is the nostrils of the hippopotamus are a pair of slits which can be opened and closed by the action of circular muscles surrounding them. They close when the hippopotamus submerges.

Breathing Protects.

The lesson is that the protection you have against respiratory infection under water consists in proper breathing—exhale through the nose while under water and inhale through the mouth while swimming on the surface and you maintain a positive air pressure in the nasal cavities which protects the nose and ears from infection.

Ear Drums.

Aquatic animals also have means of closing the ears under water. We can imitate this by using ear drums, but this is of less importance because ear infections from swimming come almost exclusively from nose and throat infection, which invades the ear by going up the Eustachian tube.

Daily Bible Thought

Be not deceived; God is not mocked, for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap. For he that soweth to his flesh shall of the flesh reap corruption; but he that soweth to the Spirit shall of the Spirit reap life everlasting. And let us not be weary in well doing, for in due season we shall reap, if we faint not.—Galatians 6:7, 9.

Ohio Anecdotes

'Bloody Shirt' Foraker.

A TWO-FISTED, forceful executive, who rigorously enforced law and obtained passage of much-needed legislation, in part describes Joseph B. Foraker, one-time governor of Ohio.

Dramatic and sensational on occasion, Governor Foraker gained national attention when he commented on President Cleveland's edict of 1887 calling for the return of all captured flags of the Confederacy to their respective states.

Foraker declared, "No rebel flag will be surrendered while I am governor." And none was given up.

As a result his enemies dubbed the governor "Fire Alarm" Foraker and "Bloody Shirt" Foraker. That his attitude was politically efficacious, however, was borne out by the enthusiastic response of the Union Civil war veterans. Foraker four times received the gubernatorial nomination, and was elected twice.

How It Started

—By JEAN NEWTON

"Die-Hard."

Used colloquially to describe an irreconcilable, one who sticks stubbornly to his course or principles though left alone in their support, "die-hard" boasts a historic origin.

The term commemorates a famous English company of soldiers known as the 57th (now the West Middlesex) Regiment of Foot.

Surrounded and overwhelmed at the Battle of Albuera in 1811, the colonel adjured his men to "die hard!"

Die hard they did, so much so, that the injunction has survived to connote pertinacity and valor in the face of an overpowering enemy to the very end.

There's no find like the young fool who tries to act like an old fool.

Some people are way up in the social scale because they're too light to bring the scale down.

WASHINGTON Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Jim Farley scrupulously stuck to his resolve not to talk to the press after his talk with the president at Hyde Park. But the morning after this conference, Chip Robert, secretary of the Democratic national committee, held a significant luncheon with a group of Democratic senators arranging the Chicago convention.

This group includes includes Senators Wagner of New York, Jimmy Byrnes of South Carolina, Pat Harrison of Mississippi, Happy Chandler of Kentucky and several others.

To them, Robert, who is second in command to Farley on the Democratic national committee, passed the word along that Roosevelt would run for a third term.

He also passed on the message that Farley was definitely out, and that the chief difference between him and the president had not been the third term, but the question of who should be the vice presidential candidate.

The New Dealers, Robert reported, were strong for Justice William O. Douglas, but Farley was just as emphatically opposed to him. Jim did not believe that the ticket would win with an out-and-out New Dealer running as second man to Roosevelt.

Farley wanted Hull for vice president, and Roosevelt heartily concurred in the choice. However, Secretary Hull previously had said he was not available as a vice presidential candidate, though Jim was convinced that all Roosevelt had to do was to urge Hull and he would consent.

Robert also passed on the word that Jim Farley had told Roosevelt he was resigning come what may, in order to accept some business opportunities he could not afford to miss. Farley has gone into debt, and is counting on another job, in addition to bossing the New York Yankees, to recoup his finances.

Roosevelt urged him to stay, but Farley was adamant. The conversation lasted for two solid hours, and never were the two men in more friendly mood. They were extremely frank, but parted on the best of terms, probably feeling more kindly toward each other than at any time in two years.

Chip Robert departed that same afternoon to complete arrangements at Chicago.

Vice Presidential Race.

It becomes increasingly evident that the main fight at Chicago is going to be over the vice presidential nominee on the Roosevelt ticket.

Despite Secretary Hull's reluctance to serve, many think that in the end, he may be the man. Justice Douglas they consider admirably qualified, but not acceptable politically to the conservative wing of the party.

However, a compromise vice presidential candidate between Hull and Douglas has been looming in the background. He is Lloyd Stark, hard-hitting governor of Missouri. Stark has been rolling up more and more support in the Far West recently, where several governors are reported backing him.

Stark's strength is chiefly in agricultural areas, he being a nurseryman. Also his long career in the army during the World war and in the navy after his graduation from Annapolis fits into the national defense picture.

Stark's chief handicap is that he does not control the delegation from his own state of Missouri, and usually it is hard to nominate a man who does not have the home politicians behind him. That is, it was considered hard until Wendell Willkie won at Philadelphia with the New York delegation pledged to Dewey.

No-War Plank.

For the Democratic platform makers, like the Republicans, the biggest headache is the foreign affairs plank.

The same bellicose forces, isolationist and anti, which made life miserable for the Philadelphia platform writers are giving the deep blues to the Democrats. In fact, the rival camps among the Democrats are even more troublesome.

The Republicans, while they squabbled hotly among themselves behind closed doors, were too conscious of party-interest to kick up an open ruckus. On the final showdown, the boys worked out a compromise that gave each side a sop. The result was rather ambiguous, but it left the door open for the Republican candidate to move whichever way he wanted.

But the prima donna Democratic factions are insisting on the whole hog or nothing. Senator Burt Wheeler, backed by the glowering John L. Lewis, is demanding an unequivocal, isolationist, no-war declaration, and threatens to head a third-party ticket if he doesn't get his way.

Anti-isolationists, foremost among them Roosevelt himself, are flatly against such a plank. At the same time, they are acutely aware of the powerful "peace" sentiment in the country and they know they've got to watch their step.

How to meet this problem, without too-obvious pussyfooting, is the big riddle. A number of formulas are under consideration. The one so far most favored reads:

"We are opposed to any American youth being sent to fight in foreign wars. We dedicate ourselves to unstinting effort to build up the defenses of our own country to protect it and the Western Hemisphere from any foreign encroachments."

* * *

Comes Der Revolution.

G-boss J. Edgar Hoover and dynamic Walter Winchell were discussing the fifth column menace and the government's measures to combat it.

"Believe me, Walter," remarked Hoover, "I've got a personal interest in suppressing subversive elements. If they ever got control, I'd be the first one they'd shoot."

"John," shot back Winchell with a broad grin, "you've got delusions of grandeur. I'm No. 1 on their list."

Political Chaff.

GOP master minds are losing no time organizing their campaign. Quietly, they already have begun buying up billboard space all over the country. . . . In anticipation of being barred from the ballot this year, California Communists are quietly making plans to capture the Progressive party in the forthcoming primary. . . . One Democratic leader to keep an eye on at Chicago is tall, fast-thinking Senator Lister Hill of Alabama. As chairman of the Alabama delegation, he will be the first to answer the roll-call when the nominating speeches begin. Hill, who succeeded to the seat once held by his close friend Justice Hugo Black, is a strong third termer and a Roosevelt favorite.

Trapdoor Spider

(A FARMER'S DIARY)

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

AS I SCANNED a barren hillside where sparse short grass and Indian pipes were growing, I came upon a round flat lidlike surface, smaller than the end of my index finger, and the color of the earth.

I stooped until my eyes were close to the ground and tried with my finger nail to lift the little lid by the outer rim. It quickly moved back down again, as though a spring were underneath. Three times I pulled it open at the looser side, and each time it seemed to fasten closer. So well did the beveled edges fit that I believe it sealed the space completely, even against rainfall.

I knew it was the home of a trapdoor spider and that she was within by the way her humble door was guarded. She seemed to anticipate my upward pull and down the trap would come in defiant fashion. I quickly tore the covering from the little perpendicular tunnel, breaking the twisted gossamer hinge.

I saw the little creature scurry out of sight and the narrow tube was too dark for my eyes to follow her. I took a blade of bluegrass and tried to reach her, but though I felt the spider touch the lower end, she would not follow when I pulled it out.

Near by I found a thin sharp piece of stone with which I dug around the little aperture and left the tunnel standing. Before I reached the bottom of the tiny tube surrounded by its earthy support, I paused. I parted the dirt aside and held between my thumb and forefinger a gauzy cylinder spun of thread so fine that I could hardly discern them without my glasses. Yet in some peculiar way this fragile column had kept the earth from falling in upon the spider.

The little tenant was there, huddled at the bottom. She fled when I tore the remnant of wall away and left a silken cocoon which I know contained a clutch of eggs.

A year ago I saw two similar circular lids upon a bank side by side, with the rear parts of a centipede protruding from one of the openings. He had forced an entrance. I pulled him out and examined the two small openings, so near together.

I found two tunnels that intersected and where one entered the other acutely a flexible silken membrance closed the breach and walled in a secret chamber behind the second trap door.

I opened the other lid and there was the spider, hidden as cunningly as could be.

U. S. INCREASES PILOT TRAINING AT MUNY PORT

Federal Order Adds Five More To Flight Instruction In Aeronautics Course.

Uncle Sam's need for army pilots in the national defense program had started five more Mansfield and Shelby aeronautics students on the second lap of their flying instruction course today at Mansfield airport.

The additional five, taken from the ground course class which finished its primary instruction in May, boosted the flight class to 15, J. R. Harrington, airport manager and federal instructor, said.

In a move to speed up the training of prospective army pilots, Civil Aeronautics officials issued the call for a larger flight class here and ordered students to complete their primary training by Sept. 1.

The instruction is provided by the federal government free to the high-ranking students selected from the spring ground training classs which was conducted in Mansfield by Harrington.

Harrington said the federal government has also authorized advanced flight training classes for graduates of the primary course, and after that there will be a special training course for producing apprentice instructors.

"In addition, we have been advised by the federal government that 15 flight scholarships will be awarded from the new ground class that will be started next week," Harrington said. In the preceding class only 10 students won scholarships.

The five students who are beginning their actual flight training as the result of the federal order are Warren J. Hiner, 343 West Fourth street; Paul D. Leonhardt, Shelby; Richard L. Maxwell, 94 Parkwood boulevard; Robert K. McClurg, 572 Garfield place, and Louis D Nixon, 209 East First street

KING GEORGE HAS NARROW RAID ESCAPE

British Claim Eight German Raiding Planes Shot Down In Flames.

Italian Libya, Egypt and British-owned Kenya colony.

The African kingdom of Emperor Haile Selassie, the fugitive "Lion of Judah" who lost his throne to Italian conquest in 1935-36, also appeared likely to play a forthcoming major role in the struggle.

The British government officially recognized Selassie's government as "the lawful government of Ethiopia" and admitted it "to the full status of ally in the present war, with assurances that Ethiopia's independence will be assured when the war is won."

The emperor's army, unofficially reported to number 200,000 native fighters, will be co-ordinated with British forces to assail Italy's armies in North and East Africa and in Ethiopia, it was announced in the house of commons

From Nairobi, Kenya colony, came word that British troops have held out against a fierce three-day assault by large Italian forces at Moyale, fortified post on the Kenya-Ethiopia frontier.

Since the attack started at dawn Wednesday, more than a thousand shells have dropped into the British post while small-arms fire rattled from every side of the fort day and night. British reinforcements were reported en route to lift the siege.

In another action, British mechanized columns harried Italian troops cut off in two forts, Capuzzo and Maddelana, on the Italian Libya-Egyptian border. A pipe line supplying water to the forts from the coast was reported cut.

The Italian high command said Fascist bombers and troops wrought havoc on British forces along the Libyan-Egyptian border, destroying tanks and armored cars, firing barracks and trucks, and bombing airfields in British Somaliland and Kenya.

There was no letup, even overnight, in the bitter battle for mastery of the air over England, or along the narrow straits of Dover across which German invasion might be sprung.

The toll of lives was high but undisclosed Twilight bombings concentrated on southern England alone killed 14 and injured 47. That was after a day of ceaseless, wave after wave assault from coast to coast. Homes were splintered and streets splattered with machine-gun bullets.

Today the raids were resumed again before dawn on the southwest coast and in Wales. Yesterday the British claimed at least 23 raiders shot down and others damaged badly. Two more were shot down in today's first raids.

Striving to shape future hope from the ruin of the third republic, France today concentrated in 84-year-old Marshal Henri Philippe Petain the power of president and premier.

He announced yesterday that from the old Palaces of Kings at Versailles, in German-occupied territory, France would be governed by authoritarian central power and the old provincial system, a medley of the politically old and new.

Balkan disputes over territorial claims quieted after Adolf Hitler's warning that changes might be made later—but would not be tolerated by the Axis powers now.

Secretary of State Hull advised non-American powers to keep hands off the July 20 conference of American ministers, and accused Germany of attempts to intimidate Latin American countries.

Mexico's presidential vote count continued under increasing threats of renewed violence. Administration-backed Gen Manuel Avila Camacho declared the count is giving him a 5 to 1 lead Gen. Juan Andreu Almazan announced he would take the oath of office and would set up a congress "in my own home if necessary."

The government of Chile shaped a sweeping national defense bill citing "events resulting from the European war" as making it necessary. The measure, headed for urgent congressional action, provides special financing for defense and would create a superior national defense council

Italian Planes Hunt British Fleet.

ROME — (U.P.)— Huge Italian bombers, heavily laden with explosives, began taking off from all Mediterranean airdromes at 10 p. m. for attacks on British air bases and other objectives in the Mediterranean, the official Stefani news agency said today.

Earlier an official communique had said that the Royal British air and naval warfare which began in the Mediterranean Monday was continuing and that the Italian air force had attacked and inflicted severe damage on a British naval convoy of unspecified strength which was entering the eastern Mediterranean.

Turkey Faithful To Her Friends.

ISTANBUL — (U.P.)— Turkey will keep faith with her friends and seek to maintain peace with her neighbors in belief that the only peace with Turkey Premier Refik Saydam declared today.

The premier's speech to the national assembly had been awaited with special interest because of reports that Soviet Russia might made demands on Turkey, including a proposal for a share in control and defense of the vital Dardanelle strait.

"Turkey will be faithful to her friends," the premier said. "We have no aggressive intentions against our neighbors and we do not believe that these countries hold aggressive intentions against Turkey."

Heinz Company to Aid Children of British Workers

PITTSBURGH (INS) Howard Heinz, president of the H. J. Heinz company, has issued an invitation to the children of the company's British employes said to number several thousands, to come to America and Canada at company expense for the duration of the European war, it was learned today

Heinz is a member of the national child refugee committee, of which Marshall Field is chairman. Heinz said:

"Funds will have to be raised to take care of children who do not find a home. Funds will have to be raised to conduct offices in various cities."

REDS MUSTER WAR STRENGTH

Prepare for Day When Nazis Turn Eastward for Next Conquest Move.

ficials, travelers and neutral observers long resident in Russia.

They are based on what I saw and heard in nearly a month's journey from jittery Stockholm, across the Baltic states where I watched endless streams of Russian tanks and troop columns moving in, a stay in Moscow where Germans and Russians eye each other with obvious suspicion and hostility and the long journey across Siberia where I saw train after train of military supplies and big guns

Here are some of the standout points of the information I collected.

There is a shortage of all kinds of consumers goods and the shortage is growing. Basic foods like bread, potatoes, meat, sugar and tea are plentiful but there is a notable lack of vegetables and fruits.

The Baltic move also may have been intended to forestall Germany For a month before the Soviet acted German sources in Stockholm had circulated anti-Russian propaganda. Reports were current that Germany might offer a military alliance to Sweden, Finland and the Baltic states in case of a Soviet ultimatum

The Soviet is strengthening its position in the Far East I noted a tremendous movement of traffic on the trans-Siberian railroad. I counted the number of freight trains we passed and as nearly as I could estimate we must have passed one every 20 minutes or so all the way to Vladivostock.

OHIOAN SCORES TRAINING PLAN

Congressman Says Military Compulsion Leads to War.

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— Rep. Frederick C. Smith R., O., said last night that adoption of compulsory universal military training in this country would be assuming "Hitler's plan for ending unemployment."

He charged that adoption of the system would be "a most effectual means to push us all the way into the war.

"It is not a coincidence that those who advocate our entrance into the war are largely the same group who advocate universal compulsory military service" he said in a radio address

PICK DEMPSEY

Democrats Name Ex-Champion Sergeant-at-Arms.

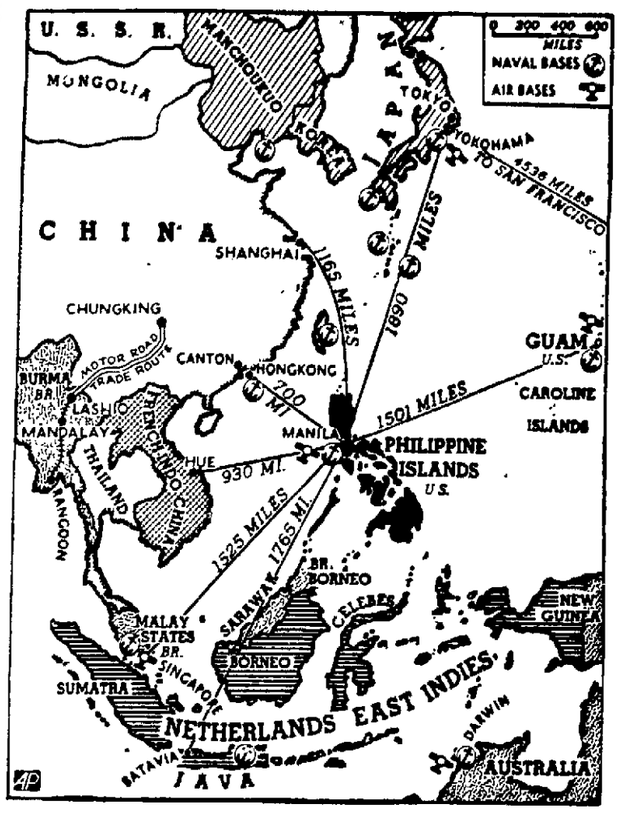
CHICAGO — (INS)— Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion of the world who recently said he was in training for a comeback of a sort, has been named an assistant sergeant-at-arms for the national Democratic convention next week

The selection was made by Speaker William Bankhead, who will be permanent chairman of the sessions

GETS LIMA POST

LIMA, O. (INS)—Philip Young, who has been coach at Ruttman high school for nine years, today was named basketball coach at Lima South high school.

Philippines In War Shadow



In three years of war with China (the anniversary was in July) Japan has overrun all of China's coast. After France surrendered to Hitler, Japan won a diplomatic victory when Indo-China agreed to ship no more supplies to China proper. But Britain refused to close the Burma road. China's last lifeline. This week Japanese soldiers moved near British Hongkong; English women and children moved away. And the fate of the Dutch East Indies is in the balance. Whatever happens, America's furthest outpost, the Philippines, are right in the center of the Orient's gathering storm clouds.

HULL APPEARS NO. 2 CHOICE

Cut and Dried Democratic Convention Indicated By Advance Dope.

Hopkins and Ickes will be much in evidence in maneuvering situations once the convention gets under way.

Neither Hopkins nor Ickes have anything like Farley's convention experience But they see eye to eye with Mr. Roosevelt whereas Farley reputedly does not. Farley is anti-third term and he is not in sympathy with some of the president's close advisers, such as Tommy Corcoran and Ben Cohen. Then, too, Farley's chances of getting on the ticket have been done away with.

His friends say President Roosevent has not properly appreciated Farley's loyalty and support and they fully expect Farley to retire as national chairman after the convention.

Senator Wagner, as chairman of the resolutions committee, is on the ground to see that the right kind of a platform is drawn up. He has called a meeting of the committee for this afternoon for preliminary discussions. The platform will not be adopted until after the convention gets under way.

Indications are that the plank on war and preparedness will be based on President Roosevelt's message to congress Wednesday. In this the president said, "We will not send our men to take part in European wars.

Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana, a member of the resolutions committee, is expected to stage a fight for the adoption of a vigorous anti-war, nonintervention plank He has intimated that he would bolt the party ticket if such a plank is not incorporated in the platform.

'BRAIN TRUST' ELIMINATED IN DEFENSE PLANS

Roosevelt Promises 'Hands Off' Policy on Part of 'Inner Circle.'

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — President Roosevelt has shelved the team of Thomas Corcoran and Ben Cohen as well as other once-influential brain-trusters to insure speedy development of the government's $14,000,000,000 preparedness program, authoritative sources reported today.

Mr. Roosevelt has ordered the so-called "inner-circle" of advisers to keep "hands-off" all aspects of the national defense activities, it was learned.

The president has assured William S. Knudsen, Edward R. Stettinius, Sidney Hillman and other members of the national defense council that there would be no interference on the part of the group upon which the White House has relied for advice in recent years.

Knudsen and others on the defense council are reported to have obtained the president's promise that the administration of the preparedness program would be in the hands of conservative business and government officials.

Of the so-called White House inner circle, only Secretary of Commerce Harry L. Hopkins is being permitted to participate to any major extent in the defense plans. Hopkins, however, has co-operated closely with business ever since entering the cabinet. He has interceded in behalf of several industries, including the motion picture companies, who were embroiled in anti-trust battles with the justice department.

It is reported also that Mr. Roosevelt has spoken sharply to several of his cabinet aides who complained that the national defense council was encroaching on their departments. The president, according to the report, has made it plain that every government department must co-operate 100 percent with the army, navy and the commission

The entire program is now in the hands of a conservative group. On the business side are Knudsen, Stettinius and others, while on the government side are such figures as Federal Loan Administrator Jesse Jones, the two Republican cabinet members — Secretary of War Stimson and Secretary of the Navy Knox—and Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau.

Willkie Talks to West's Cowhands In Own Language

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo.—(AP)—Wendell L. Willkie, adopting a cowboy idiom to predict his election in November, told a "chuck-wagon dinner" crowd that after next January "the chuck is going to be better and the range greener."

The Republican nominee was the guest of the Colorado Springs "community cowhands" at an open-aid, informal dinner on the eve of his departure for Denver and today's meeting with the Colorado Republican state committee.

"I want you to come home to me on the range on the banks of the Potomac," the nominee told a cheering gathering.

clothes and that was the last we saw of her," a hospital attache said.

Arthur Jahn, 29, an engineer, said he and five other persons were in the basement of the building when the fire was discovered.

Police Maj Elmer O'Neil saw the blaze as he was passing in an automobile and said he heard persons shouting "save me."

O'Neil helped carry four of the trapped occupants down fire escapes while four hospital employes went from room to room, arousing patients and cautioning them against panic.

The damage was estimated at $50,000.

The Holy Family home was established 51 years ago when the hospital was erected by Sisters of the Poor of St. Francis

The fire was prevented from spreading to the main hospital building, only 75 feet from the damaged structure.

USE STUKAS IN BRITISH RAIDS

Dive Bombers Attack Points on English Coast.

BERLIN — (INS) — The German high command revealed today that Stuka planes—the dive bombers which wrought incredible havoc in the battle of France—are being used to attack airports, piers and armament plants in England.

The high command said the Stukas set fire to industrial plants, sank 30,000 tons of British shipping and severely damaged nine additional merchant vessels.

WEIRTON STEEL LOSES TO NLRB

Board Orders Discontinuance of 'Company Unions,' Hits at 'Hatchet Gangs.'

(By Associated Press)

PITTSBURGH—(AP)—The $125,000,000 Weirton (W. Va.) Steel company headed by Ernest T. Weir, New Deal foe who successfully battled the NRA, today lost the first round in a four-year fight against the Wagner Labor act, which Weir has opposed as "government interference in business."

Issuing a preliminary decision in its longest and costliest case, the national labor relations board ordered the concern to disestablish independent "company unions" at plants in Weirton, W. Va., and Steubenville, O. Seventeen of 300 employes who claimed they were dismissed for "outside" union activity were ordered reinstated with back pay.

The company was also directed to "cease physical assaults on union employes or inciting others to such action."

The decision said that "special watchmen" employed by the company "roamed the streets, trailed CIO sympathizers and assaulted SWOC organizers." The CIO called the watchmen a "hatchet gang."

The board dismissed however, a petition by the CIO steel workers organizing committee seeking recognition as bargaining agent for the 12,000 employes of the company, main unit of the national steel corporation of which Weir is chairman. The board held the SWOC had not established a majority among the employes.

Weir is Republican national finance chairman.

MOBILIZATION OF NATIONAL GUARD URGED

can go on the basis of voluntary enlistment, and there probably is also in time of war," the general declared.

The navy department awarded 23 contracts totaling $136,743,900 today as a part of the vast program to build up the nation's Pacific and Atlantic defenses.

To help bolster western defenses, contracts totaling $30,870,000 were let for aviation facilities in the Pacific including Pearl Harbor and the nation's other island possessions In the east one contract alone provided $24,204,000 for aviation shore facilities at the naval Quonset Point air station in Rhode Island.

A formidable army striking force of some 6,000 tanks—several hundred of them huge land battleships—was also disclosed today as one major objective in President Roosevelt's new $4,848,171,957 preparedness program.

Persons familiar with the plans behind the dollar marks said that the intention was to double the total of 3,100 tanks which now are either in service, on order, or covered by appropriation.

Only Germany, they said possesses a tank force of such potential striking power, according to available information. The projected American equipment, they explained, would include squadrons rivaling the 70-ton tanks which spearheaded victorious Nazi thrusts in Europe.

Signs multiplied, meanwhile, that the war department was thinking in terms of an army of 1,200,000 troops—the bulk of it to be raised within the next few months by compulsory military training.

The recruiting drive now in progress aims at building up the regular army to 280,000 men by Aug. 30. A 1,200,000 force would include national guard units, now mustering more than 200,000.

TELLS KIWANIS U.S. BUSINESS STANDING TRIAL

O.P.S. Division Manager Talks To Club on Problems Which Affect 'American Way.'

"The American way and the American business is on trial and the outcome depends upon the kind of case it presents and upon the case that we present," J. B. Johnson, vice president and division manager of the Ohio Public Service company at Elyria, told members of the Mansfield Kiwanis club at its weekly meeting yesterday noon at Westbrook Country club.

Speaking on "Current Problems Affecting the American Way," Johnson said, "there is such a thing as business having a patriotic and a social responsibility as well as a financial responsibility, and non-financial dividends can be an important part of our industrial life."

"In fact such dividends plowed back into our industrial life in the form of loyalty, pride in being a part of American business, and enthusiasm for its product or purpose must be a part of our industrial life if we hope to keep the American way.

"We must make our own system work, has been well said but the conditions and surroundings must be such that it can work and those conditions and surroundings can only be found where loyalty, pride and enthusiasm flourish," Johnson said.

He told Kiwanians that if business does not deserve the respect, admiration and loyalty of its own people it won't last very long either with it's own people or with the public. "It is a patriotic responsibility of American business to appreciate this because it is the only way the American way can continue," he added.

Fails To Stand Test.

"For 6,000 years the human race has experimented in governments and during this period almost every possible form of government has been tried but nothing has stood the test of the ages, and the few surviving pages of the uncertain history of nations that have existed and are no more, give ample proof that the task of self-government is the severest that God in His wisdom has ever placed upon His children," he said.

"About the only subject which vitally affects all, and yet to which few give serious thought, is the science of government," he said.

"Our farms and our factories, our mills and our mines, together with current news, engage our attention, but statecraft, as distinguished from partisan politics, is accorded scant consideration. In the first place we are too busy, and secondly, we do not improve even our available time," he said.

J. A. Herbert was chairman of the meeting.

CLEARS MISUNDERSTANDING OF FEDERAL NATURALIZATION LAW

A number of women in the Mansfield area who thought they lost their citizenship because they married aliens during the last World war have been citizens all the time, Norman P. Henry, Richland county naturalization clerk, had learned today.

Henry said the solicitor for the immigration department had ruled that the law regarding marriage to aliens was set aside during the period from April 16, 1917, to July 2, 1921.

The law that deprived an American-born woman of her citizenship when she married an alien was repealed several years ago, but it left its mark on women throughout the nation who have either had to take out citizenship papers or are still deprived of their citizenship rights.

A number of Mansfield women who came here from Canada and other foreign countries and married citizens, either native born or naturalized, have inquired regarding their status as citizens, Henry said.

He explained that they must make application for citizenship, but under certain specifications, they may apply for second papers without the formality of first papers and the wait of two years between papers. The present naturalization laws provide that in such circumstances a woman need live here but three years before applying for citizenship papers.

Sleep Walking Curable

THERE IS AN old superstition that a person walking in his sleep is physically safe. He is not. Every now and then we read in the newspaper of a death resulting from a fall during sleepwalking.

Many psychiatrists assume that the cure of sleep-walking (somnambulism) is best effected by mental treatment of the patient while awake. No doubt some cures are effected in this manner. Certainly it should do no harm to look into the behavior and experiences of the adult somnambulist, and then remove all possible worries and other emotional disturbances from his daily wakeful life.

On Physician's Advice.

As for children under 10 or 12 who, upon examination by a competent physician, are found to have hearts that are healthy physically, a shock treatment is probably the surest and simplest cure. But you had better not employ it except on the advice of your physician.

Suppose you have a child who has been carefully checked by your physician and found physically sound, who begins prowling about in his sleep. A dash of a pail of cold water on him, or a good whack on his anatomy with razor strop, might do the trick. The only two cases of sleepwalking I have known well have been treated in this fashion. Though they were chronic sleepwalkers, they never walked in their sleep after just one such treatment.

The one was a young nurse. Her roommate set several washbowls by the bed with large cakes of ice in them. When the nurse rose in her sleep to walk about, her bare feet pressed upon the ice—o-o-o-o-!—and the shock was permanently effective. In the other instance, the boy of fifteen had his last sleep walk on the night when a single lustry whack of a razor strop shocked him into waking.

Danger in Buildings.

And just in passing may I urge my fellow parents to keep their runabout children away from buildings under construction? Although it is great fun for these children to play games of chase and hide-and-go-seek about a brick or lumber pile and to climb among the framework, the physical hazards are very great. Greater still the normal hazards, since the children are trespassing, much to the annoyance of the owner of the property. We parents owe it to our children to teach them to respect the rights and possessions of others.

If you would like to read further remarks of mine in this direction, write me at 235 East 45th Street, New York City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it and let me send you a reprint of a magazine article I wrote under the title, "Do you spank your children?"

Solving Parent Problems.

Q. Would you punish a child for things he had done at home in your absence, reported to you by the person left in charge of him?

A. No: next time I would find a better caretaker, stay home, or put up with consequences.

Q. Would you ever admit to the child that you had commanded or punished him wrongly?

A. Yes, indeed; and I'd apologize to him sincerely and penitently. I've done it. Every other parent who tries to be fair and just to his children has.

Q. My boy of five hits his sister three years old sometimes. I punish him for it but it does no good.

A. You punish him after the sister has "squealed" on him. She gets rewarded in seeing him punished and he feels very angry about it, awaiting another opportunity to get even with her. The chances are that she is the chief offender, the younger of two usually is; that she so hampers his activity and messes up his things that he can endure the annoyance no longer. It might be well to observe her when they play together. Be sure to train her to respect his possessions and him to respect hers. You should serve as policeman to see that each is protected against the inroads of the other. And don't try to force him to give up his things to her just because she is little.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

Dicky had taken the two keys which the gangster had proffered him, and had unfastened the padlock securing the box supposed to contain Queen Olga's stolen emeralds. He was now opening the box with the smaller key fitting it, and I had hard work to keep my breathing under control, as the box lid flew open. I could not see the fabulously valuable gems. I wondered if they really were in it, or if Jack Leslie had been able to secure imitations with which he hoped to fool my father.

But the revelation Olga had made of the secret markings upon her emeralds, markings which my father had had copied, and which I knew Dicky had memorized, effectually scotched that attempt, if one were being made, and when Dicky lifted his head after a minute inspection of the gems, I knew by the look upon his face that the emeralds were in reality Olga's.

"Okay," he said briefly, shutting the box, locking it, and putting it in the compartment of the car, across which he lapped a strong wire, evidently prepared previously for the guarding of the box. Then he alighted from the car, and beckoned to one of my father's men in the other car.

"Come over here, please, Mason," he said and when the man had crossed to his side, he motioned him to the seat he had just vacated.

"I've developed a most frightful headache, Harry," he said, "and the motion of the car is making it worse. If you don't mind, I'll sit down on one of these logs, take a headache tablet, and rest while you finish up this expedition. When you've reached the cross roads, and these friends of ours are well on their way, come back here and get me. Is that all right with you?"

"Sure thing," Mr. Underwood replied, with such effusive heartiness that I knew the colloquy had been rehearsed beforehand. But the leader of the gangsters raised his voice vehemently.

"This ain't on the free list," he said. "He's got to come along."

"Oh, no, he hasn't," Mr. Underwood said pleasantly but firmly. "You've got what you were supposed to get, and you're not going to interfere with the personal acts of anybody on our side. What difference does it make if he wants to work off a headache here in this God-forsaken spot. There's nobody here he can even annoy."

"You spoke a true word that time," the leader said with emphasis, and I knew he was thinking that Leslie and the chauffeur together would be a match for Dicky, even if he were amply armed.

I also knew from the glances he was sending toward our thicket that he was awaiting some word of direction from Leslie, but when none was forthcoming, he made the most of what he evidently considered a bad job.

"As you say," he went on lamely, "it don't matter what he does."

"Thank you so much," Dicky said with a bow.

At first, Dicky made no movement, simply stood still, looking down at the dusty unpaved road beneath his feet. Then, as he began to move slowly along in the direction of the wood road where I knew the chauffeur was in hiding and in gangster parlance would "have to drop" on him, my heart leaped to my throat. Lillian, too, was quick to see the danger of Dicky walking into ambush. Her eyes for a fraction of a second turned from Leslie and looked frantically into mine, but her hand, holding the small silencer pistol on Leslie never wavered and the latter made no move. Mute with fright I watched Dicky as he walked toward the road.

HOW TO HAVE BETTER HOLLYHOCKS

Although hollyhocks are old garden favorites they also have undergone modernization. Today there are many new varieties. Some are semi-double, while others are double and have fringed flowers. There are also many new shades not heretofore seen in hollyhocks.

There are also ways and means of having better hollyhocks. For example, while some hollyhocks will grow to a height of 9 feet, they should be cut off at 5 or 6 feet, as shown in the accompanying Garden-Graph. Cutting back hollyhocks in this manner will produce flowers of extra size, instead of the usual long, spindly stalk of small blooms.

As soon as the flowers of the hollyhock fade, they should be pinched off the stalk. Do not wait until the seed pods form. A profusion of additional blossoms will reward your alertness in disposing of the faded blooms.

After hollyhocks have flowered the stalks should be cut down to within 6 inches of the ground.

"The Authority on Authorities"

TEMPT THE IMPOSSIBLE

Imagination is one of the most vital assets of the superfine cardsman. It enables him to make some contracts that seem completely impossible to the less superlatively endowed. Upon occasion he will figure out that, if the missing cards are distributed in some one particular way, he has a long shot chance. Even that may depend upon his luring one or both of the defenders into most absurd mistakes. But at least it may be a chance, however remote its likelihood, and is better than merely giving up supinely.

	♠ A K Q ♥ A Q 6 ♦ 10 9 ♣ 8 6 4 3 2
♠ 9 7 6 2 ♥ J 8 5 ♦ K 8 5 4 3 2 ♣ None		♠ 8 4 ♥ 10 9 7 ♦ Q J 7 ♣ A K Q 9 7
	♠ J 10 5 3 ♥ K 4 3 2 ♦ A 6 ♣ J 10 5

(Dealer: East. North-South vulnerable.)

East	South	West	North
1 ♣	Pass	1 ♦	Dbl
2 ♣	2 ♠	Pass	3 ♠
Pass	4 ♠

West would have liked to lead his partner's club suit, but could not, so selected the heart J. South counted up and saw three probable losers in clubs, plus one in diamonds. After thorough study, he saw a faint ray of light, a remote chance to avoid the diamond loser, if West happened to have four trumps and would get just a little bit careless on one trick, and if East, too, would make a particular slip. He then proceeded with his plan.

Winning the heart lead with dummy's A, he took two high spades and then led a club. East rattled off three tricks there, then made the mistake of not leading a fourth club—just what declarer hoped. He switched to his heart 10 for some unsound reason, perhaps hoping the J lead had been a singleton. That was taken with the Q, then the K was won.

The declarer had false-carded the 3 and 4 on two of the heart tricks and now led the heart 2.

West had paid little attention, being irate at his partner for not returning a diamond after the clubs. He saw the dummy could over-ruff if he ruffed, so he discarded a diamond. North then did likewise, finessing the heart 2 against the chance that East was out of trumps. The diamond A, ruffed diamond 6 and two trumps made the contract.

Tomorrow's Problem.

	♠ 10 8 4 3 ♥ K 5 ♦ A 9 8 4 ♣ K 4 2
♠ 9 7 ♥ Q J 8 7 4 2 ♦ K Q 2 ♣ 9 8		♠ K 5 ♥ A 3 ♦ 7 5 3 ♣ Q J 10 6 5 3

(Dealer: West. Neither side vulnerable.)

If West bids and rebids hearts, and leads the heart Q against South's 4-Spades, why should declarer refuse to cover the honor with dummy's K?

The largest record fire loss in New York City was in 1922, when $22,743,000 worth of property was destroyed.

Democrats Assure Wheeler of Strong Anti-War Plank

F.D.R. DEFENSE MESSAGE GAVE PARTY POLICY

Montana Senator Declares No Split on Platform Likely at Convention.

(By International News Service)

CHICAGO—Senator Burton K. Wheeler, military non-interventionist, declared today he had been assured the Democratic platform will contain "a very strong anti-war plank" and that he was satisfied there would be no fight over the foreign policy plank "such as split the Republicans at Philadelphia."

The Montanan, who arrived in Chicago today for the Democratic National convention, said the language used by President Roosevelt in his national defense message in which the president said America's youth would not be sent to Europe's battlefields, was highly satisfactory to him.

Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace, a member of the platform committee, also arrived today, reportedly bearing a farm plank. However, he refused to comment on the agricultural program he will present to the committee.

Meanwhile, New Deal strategists mapped a domestic platform policy for the Democratic National convention which endorses the Roosevelt administration and pledges expansion of social and economic reforms.

This was disclosed today by leading administration officials who are cooperating in framing the draft of a platform which will be laid before the resolutions committee by Sen. Robert Wagner, N. Y., its chairman.

The foreign policy plank was regarded as settled by President Roosevelt's declaration against sending American youth to fight in Europe. The platform, officials said, is certain to contain a strong pledge against aggressive war.

Because of the possibility that the European war may end at anytime, New Dealers were said to be giving as much time to preparing planks on domestic issues as on the international question.

New Dealers taking part in conferences on the platform reportedly proposed that the convention pledge the party constantly to review the far-reaching social reforms enacted during the "first eight years" of the New Deal and to extend them. Specific pledges, however, were to be avoided.

CANADIANS TO MAN FREIGHTER

Dutch Crew Members Await Early Deportation to Netherlands.

(By United Press)

SANDUSKY — The Dutch freighter Prins Willem II awaited arrival of crew replacements from Canada today before leaving Sandusky harbor, probably Sunday or Monday with a cargo of coal for Montreal.

Twelve members of the old crew have been ordered deported to the German-occupied Netherlands or a Dutch colonial possession for their refusal to sail.

Captain Christian A. Van Der Eyck said eight members of the old crew, including seven officers, had agreed to return to their posts and to drop attachment suits for back wages.

"Deportation of the 12 other seamen, who were jailed last Friday with the other eight, was ordered by John A. Biesior, U. S. immigration officer from Detroit. The men said they feared internment in Canada as "German subjects."

When Captain Van Der Eyck said he had received assurance from Montreal authorities that the crew would not be interned against its will, eight members agreed to sail.

The ship has been tied up here since June 7. The crew was jailed by Sheriff William Souter at the request of the captain who said the men were mutinous. Spokesman for the crew said the dispute over payment of back wages was the chief cause of their discontent.

HOLBROOK STUDENTS MOURN LOSS OF COLLEGE DEGREES

MANCHESTER — (INS) — Deprived of its power to grant degrees and its presidency declared vacant by vote of the board of trustees, tiny Alfred Holbrook college, with only 38 students enrolled for the summer quarter, today faced an uncertain future.

Meanwhile, President H. E. Cunningham denied emphatically that he had been threatened with physical violence by angered students.

"Many of the students have been in to see me, but in the friendliest manner possible," he said. "Like myself, they are brokenhearted."

Dr. Cunningham denied charges of mismanagement leveled by the board of trustees, which declared his office vacant by a 5-to-2 vote. The trustees charged he blocked an endowment, advised students not to enter Alfred Holbrook, and spent earmarked funds for other purposes.

State Education Director E. N. Dietrich revoked the college's right to issue degrees with the report that the college, whose predecessor, National Normal university, numbered among its alumni Secretary of State Cordell Hull and former Gov. Myers Y. Cooper, failed to meet the standards of higher education set up for degree-granting colleges in the state.

MAKES PROFIT

State's Mileage Allowance Nets Tidy Sum.

ASHLAND — It cost approximately $30 to bring Paul Hall, 27, of Hayesville, from North Carolina, but the county will get $123.78 from the state for "mileage."

Sheriff L. D. Hammond drove 1,466 miles to and from North Carolina so that the youth could be given a hearing for theft of two automobiles and forgery of a check, and the state allows eight cents a mile for transportation. The difference, if the county ever gets it will be profit.

Hall, indicted by the grand jury, pleaded guilty to each count and is already in the pententiary.

CITY PUZZLED

Wonder When WPA Widening Job Will Get Under Way.

SHELBY — City officials today were puzzled as to when WPA would start widening Main street under a project approved by WPA officials in Washington last month.

Although it had been expected the project would open early this month, no WPA workmen have been transferred to the project by county WPA officials. A verbal promise had been given to city engineering officials that the men would be transferred.

The widening of Main street will be done between Wentz avenue and the New York Central railroad crossing. It will average three feet on each side.

Property owners along the street petitioned city council earlier this year for the widening program to relieve the traffic conditions caused by the narrowness of the street. The owners agreed to pay up to $1 per front foot for the improvement. WPA will give federal grants for labor, while the city, as sponsor, will pay the difference.

Two Admit Violation of City Traffic Regulations.

Two violators of traffic regulations appeared in municipal court this morning to plead guilty to affidavits signed by state patrol and city police.

Kenneth Long, Loudonville, who was driving at 68 miles an hour on Route 42, according to patrol officers, was fined $10 and costs.

A fine of $50 and costs, mandatory by law, was suspended for Orlando Shatstall, Pavonia, for driving a vehicle with license plates that were issued for another type of car. The fine was suspended when he explained that he was driving a newly purchased car home with his old license plates.

Bus Driver And One Passenger Killed In Collision

12 INJURED AS CATTLE TRUCK DRIVER DOZES

Ft. Wayne Man Held Under $1,000 Bond Following Wreck Near Toledo.

(By Associated Press)

TOLEDO — One passenger and the driver of a Detroit-bound Greyhound bus were killed and 12 other passengers injured today as the vehicle and a cattle truck collided near Waterville, southwest of here.

The driver was John French of Ft. Wayne, Ind.

The injured passengers, some of them critically hurt, were brought to hospitals here.

The bus was enroute from Indianapolis to Detroit.

The bus, carrying from 30 to 37 passengers, collided head-on with the truck on a curve about 6 a. m.

A huge splinter pierced the chest of the passenger victim.

The dead passenger was identified later as Jesse Copeland of Detroit, Mich.

Gerald Nye, 19, Napoleon, O., driver of the cattle truck, suffered face and knee cuts, and a broken nose.

Coroner William M. Sharpiro of Lucas county ordered Nye held as a material witness under $1,000 bond. The inquest will be July 19.

Nye told Deputy Sheriff A. Hiett Ward that he had brought a load of cattle to Toledo and was returning home. He said he thought he must have dozed. When he awoke, he discovered his truck on the wrong side of the road and the bus but a few feet away.

The accident occurred on a curve. Nye and the bus each swerved but side-swiped. The bus broke off two telephone poles and several concrete posts before coming to a stop.

Dempseys Decide Agreement Terms For Separation

NEW YORK — (INS) — The New York Journal-American today said that a formal separation agreement has been reached between Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dempsey—the latter the former Hannah Wiliams—with the couple's two children to live with Miss Williams. Dempsey retains the right to visit them at any time.

Under terms of the agreement, Miss Williams may resume her career at will, on stage, screen or in radio, but with professional night club appearances barred at Jack's insistence.

There was no cash settlement, the Journal-American said, adding:

"Instead, Jack will continue to support her and their two daughters, Joan, 6, and Barbara, 4, in the same style 'as of the date of separation,' which runs to $1,900 a month."

Nothing in the agreement forbids either party from taking a trip to Reno, the divorce capital, but neither is planning anything more definite than the present formal separation.

INTERSECTION OPENS TUESDAY

Traffic to be Permitted Soon at West Fifth and Bowman.

Intersection at West Fifth and Bowman streets will be opened to traffic Tuesday morning, Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton said today, thus relieving the congestion on Third street caused by both Fourth and Fifth streets being blocked.

Crafton said today that the work of laying the 12-inch water feeder line on Bowman street between West Fourth and West Sixth should have been completed two weeks ago and before Fourth street was closed off, but that complications had developed, delaying the work.

The intersections of West Fourth on Main, Walnut and Mulberry are still open to through traffic, but the blocks from North Diamond to Bowman were closed off.

300 AT PICNIC

Judge Keeps Position After Disbarrment

When children of the Friendly House present the puppet show, "The Three Wishes," at 7:30 p. m. today in the settlement gymnasium, they not only will stage the show, but will also be displaying some of their own handicraft work. Some of the puppets to be used in the show were made by the children, as well as most of the costumes the puppets will wear.

Maybe they can't read, or maybe they just don't believe what they do read, but anyway, in spite of all the news stories on the disposition of the paving bricks that are being taken out of West Fourth street, the service-safety director's office took more than 50 calls yesterday from people asking for bricks. A few were insistent that the bricks belonged to the taxpayers, but it was explained that if the bricks were divided among the taxpayers there probably wouldn't be enough to go around. They will be used to build city and state garages.

When the trusties at the county jail offered to wash and polish Assistant Prosecutor Harold Lutz' car, Lutz was a little suspicious but he told them to go ahead anyway. Then when he saw how the car shined when it came back, he was sorry he suspected the fellows. But today everything was different, for the car had collected the thickest coat of dust Lutz had seen on its finish in a long time. He investigated and found that the trusties had mixed some motor oil with the polish to make the car finish shinier. Now Lutz is not sure whether it was on purpose or the men really had good intentions.

Those two clowns you saw cavorting at the Mansfield-Leland hotel and the Westinghouse plant yesterday weren't fugitives from the circus, but just goodwill messengers from Buckeye Lake park near Newark. The pair came here by plane to welcome Westinghouse employes who will hold their annual picnic at the park on Saturday, Aug. 10. The clowns met at the hotel with the picnic committee headed by Willis Park. Motion pictures of their antics were taken during the day.

SENT TO PEN

Mansfielder Violates Parole Through Assault Case.

Brought into common pleas court yesterday afternoon after serving out a part of a county jail sentence for assault and battery, George Boubary, 51, of 295 North Main street, was sentenced to the Ohio penitentiary for one to three years for non-support.

Boubary pleaded guilty to an indictment for non-support last April 24 before Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston who released him on bond to get a job and continued the case.

When Boubary became involved in a fight recently he was sent to the county jail from municipal court. Since the offense was a violation of Judge Huston's previous order, Boubary was brought back into court and sentenced on the previous charge.

Richland Revenue From Sales Levy Places It 10th In Increase Percentage.

Richland county was far ahead of the state average in sales tax gain for the first six months of this year, with the county's tax receipts increasing 18.3 per cent over the first half of 1939 as compared to a gain of 10.4 per cent in the state.

Richland county ranked 10th among Ohio's 88 counties in percentage of increase for the six-month period, while collections for the last week of June were 77 per cent ahead of the corresponding week in 1939.

Receipts in the county for that week this year were $15,524 as compared to $8,755 for the same week in June, 1939, State Treasurer Don H. Ebright reported.

Total collections in the county to July 1 were $286,639, a gain of $44,261 over the first half of 1939, Ebright's report showed.

The biggest gain for any county in Ohio was 24.9 per cent in Clermont county in the southern half of the state. Twelve counties showed losses for the first six months of 1940.

MANSFIELDER STILL HELD AS POLICE HOLD DEATH INQUEST

BULLETIN

COLUMBUS — (INS) — Doyle Minard, 34-year-old Mansfield roofer, today was charged with second degree manslaughter in the hit-skip death of Charles L. Matheny, 74, of Columbus. Minard will be arraigned Saturday morning, according to police.

While Doyle Minard, 34, of Mansfield was held today by Columbus police in connection with a hit-skip accident, authorities planned an inquest into the death of Charles L. Matheny, 74, of Nelsonville, who allegedly was struck by a car driven by Minard.

Police, meanwhile, continued their search for a passenger in the car whom Minard said advised him to keep on driving after the aged man was run down.

Minard was quoted by Columbus police as confessing that he felt his automobile hit an object which he believed was a man. It was then that his passenger told him to leave the scene of the accident, Minard related to officers.

Jacob Bikar, 26, of R. D. 1, Mansfield, who was questioned with Minard, was released after it was learned he was not in the car.

Minard was traced to a hotel in Columbus after police obtained a part of his auto license number from a witness. Minard was employed by a roofing company in Columbus, he said.

Mansfielders Arraigned Before Ontario Justice of Peace.

Two Mansfield motorists were found guilty on charges of traffic violations when arraigned yesterday afternoon before Justice of Peace Thomas F. Taylor at Ontario.

Samuel J. Miller, 39, 102 North Adams street, arraigned on charges of unsafe driving, was fined $10 and costs, and Elwood H. Davis, 25, of 91 East Fourth street, arraigned on charges of failure to stop for a stop sign was fined $5 and costs.

Both were arrested south of Ontario on route 30-S by state highway patrolmen.

PROBE DEATH

Army Investigates Fatal Leap of Dayton Flier.

SOMERSET, Pa. —(INS)— Army officials today were investigating the death of Lieut. Newton R. Dick, 26, an army air corps pilot, in a leap from a crashing twin engined army bomber he was ferrying from Mitchell Field, N. Y., to his home base at Wright Field, Dayton, O.

Witnesses said the motors of the plane appeared to be sputtering and failing as it passed over the rugged forest territory near here. Dick leaped from a height of only about 150 feet, according to witnesses, and his parachute failed to open. The plane crashed in Laurel National park and burst into flames.

CLEVELANDER GOES TO WORK BUT HAS NONE

Municipal Court Refuses to Assign Cases to Author of Spurious Opinion.

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND—David Copland, disbarred for life as an attorney but still a Cleveland municipal judge, maintained a steadfast refusal today to resign his $750-a-month position.

The 51-year-old jurist reports daily to his city hall chambers, but has not been assigned a case since May 31. Then, Common Pleas Judge Charles R. Sargent of Jefferson, O., pronounced:

"David Copland should no longer be entrusted with the right to practice law. David Copland is disbarred."

The action was taken after Copland concocted a fictitious legal opinion and caused it to be published as an actual decision in the Ohio Law Reporter, which later expunged it; and after the Scottish-born jurist misrepresented his educational qualifications.

Judge Sargent held he lacked jurisdiction on other charges brought by a Cleveland Bar Association committee: That Copland distributed whisky and beauty compacts to voters in 1935, when he was elected to his present term expiring Dec. 31, 1941.

"He has had no assignments since the first of June," Burt C. Griffin, chief justice of municipal court, explained today.

"I haven't been giving him any cases and I see no reason now to change my mind — unless, of course, the charges should be reversed by a higher court."

In an opinion prepared at Griffin's request, City Law Director Henry S. Brainard ruled Copland's salary must continue "until he has been removed from office." No removal proceedings have been instituted.

Copland declared he felt "the salary goes with the position, not the individual."

"I feel I'll be vindicated ultimately," he said. "I'm ready to try such cases as are assigned. It's no fault of mine they are not assigned. And I've been working on new developments on old cases."

Copland said, "I don't intend to run for editor, but murderers get better treatment in the newspapers than I do."

The Cleveland Press, which uncovered the spurious opinion, remarked yesterday: "Copland has not spared himself, since he has come to 'work' each day and has followed a stiff and unrelenting regime of cross-word puzzles, reading, solitaire, doodling, tick-tack-toe and other judicial pursuits."

The Voice of BROADWAY

—By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

The Broadway Class of '40.

All the ivy-covered commencement speeches from the campuses far from Broadway have come and gone, and the new batch of college graduates is out saying hello to a world a bit too busy and much too troubled to talk to anyone so young.

Broadway has concluded its fiscal year, too—a year full of memories that impress a bystander with the fact that now Paris is wrapped in mourning, the gayest spot in the world is Right Here; this is the place where the atmosphere is redative combined of trivia and nonsense.

The past has seen new faces on Broadway, old faces that haven't shown up in a long time, faces usually seen on the screen, and old faces that have been hanging around for years. Many of the physiognomies and their attendant personalities fit into distinctive niches in Broadway's Hall of Fame.

Glancing over the Class of '40, I offer the results of a popularity poll conducted casually around the ringside tables of the town.

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Contract, contract. . . . They all want 'em, and sometimes they get 'em. . . .

Mary Martin didn't—not at first. . . . They thought her singing was all right but after they tested her they suggested (oh, tactfully) that she'd be better on the air where she couldn't be seen, or on the stage where distance could lend enchantment. . . . So Mary took it like a trouper, and followed their advice. . . . And every night, on the stage, her heart belonged to daddy, so they brought her back and now she's one of the screen's beauties, and the man she married (Richard Halliday, the story boss) was one of those who advised her to go away where she could be heard but not seen. . . .

Virginia Gilmore didn't either not at first. . . . She was a University of California student, set on drama and she was going to New York to hit the stage when Sam Goldwyn's offices called and invited her for a test. . . . But when she arrived they took one look at her and said, No No! She was overweight and there were straightening braces on her teeth. When she saw Goldwyn personally, however, he signed her up. She reduced, brushed with the dental braces, and found they had left her with a lisp. She studied with a diction teacher to shed that, and she still didn't have a role. She got publicity as the possessor of the "most beautiful legs" and also as a shop girl who made good as a star. (She says she worked in a store once during Christmas holidays.) She finally got a role in Manhattan Heartbeat (new version of "Bad Girl") and now is doing "Ladies."

school production, and met her at a party afterward. . . . Richman recommended her to a British film company for testing—and the letter inviting her to London came on the same day that she was offered her first lead with the Abbey players. . . . She went to London, was tested, and won two contract offers, but she didn't like the terms and declined. . . . Before she left for home again however, she met Charles Laughton, and the contract he offered put her in "Jamaica Inn" and brought her to Hollywood to "Hunchback of Notre Dame" and "A Bill of Divorcement" and "Dance, Girl Dance." . . .

SPORTS GOSSIP

NEW YORK —(AP)— Exclusive: That muscle injury he got playing baseball probably will keep Paul Christman, Missouri's great passer, on the shelf this fall. . . . If you've been wondering how Kayak II is training, he stepped a mile in 1:38 the other day—wore four leg bandages, too. . . . Jack Dempsey says he gave Cowboy Luttrell more punishment in two heats than Godoy took from Louis or Galento from Baer.

THAT MAN IS BACK.

Remember Pat Willcox, the Waterloo (Ia.,) golf pro, who shot a hole-in-one in the National open? Well, he's back again . . . the other day he went over to Charles City and shaved 10 strokes off the par 70 layout.

JUST ANOTHER JONES.

Bobby Jones, who was a sensation at 14, has a son that age who shows absolutely no inclination for golf. Incidentally, Bob makes his first competitive appearance in New York in ten years tomorrow in a Red Cross match at the Lido club. In 1929 he toured the same course in 69. . . . Boston fans still are wondering what Joe Cronin was thinking about when he let Pee Wee Reese get away to Brooklyn. . . . Joe Louis already has knocked out four of the N. B. A.'s current top ten heavies.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR.

Ed Danforth, Atlanta Journal: "The height of something is Joe Engel of Chattanooga setting up a radio station. . . . all he needs to do is climb on top of his grandstand and start talking. . . . Records at hand show Joe, in ordinary conversation, has been picked up in Java, Australia, Stockholm and Philadelphia."

MAX IN GOOD VOICE.

Maybe you noticed the sound effects went dead during parts of the Baer-Galento fight films. . . . They were cut off. . . . Max's language was the reason. Lip readers say some of the things he said to Tony were far too hot for the celluloid.

Attention, Northwestern, Marquette, Tulane, Tennessee, Purdue and Alamaba: Pat Harder, the Milwaukee high school star who scored 108 points in six games last season, has decided to string along with Wisconsin. . . . Mid-week attendance at Wrigley Field, Chicago, is the lowest in 12 years.

JOB FOR THE JUDGE.

Ever since the Detroit Tigers paid Rice's J. P. Wood a $4,000 bonus to sign with their Beaumont farm club, Texas papers have been howling for Judge Landis to do something about the Major leagues taking ball players out of school. . . . Wood was captain of the ball team ane one of the key figures in football plans.

STATE SENDS COUNTY MONEY

$4,000 Allocated to Care For Dependent Children and For Direct Relief.

State and federal funds totaling more than $4,000 for direct relief and aid to dependent children had been released to Richland county today by the state.

Included in the allotment was $1,935 in unexpected federal funds released after the state legislature passed legislation recently to make the Ohio aid for dependent children act conform to the federal law.

State Welfare Director Charles L. Sherwood said the federal money has been accumulating in the state treasury since last Jan. 1, but it could not be distributed because the state had not been matching federal funds.

Also released to the county was $2,150 in state relief money derived from June collections of beer, malt, wort, and admissions taxes.

Relief funds alloted to other counties in this area include $1,010 to Ashland county, $562 to Holmes county, $412 to Morrow county, and $1,234 to Crawford county.
